First Langworthy Reunion
Held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollum Langworthy (64), near West Edmeston, N. Y.

Introduction

The preparation of this genealogy meant writing thousands of letters, much special travel and an outlay of hundreds of dollars. Some readers may be curious to know why I happened to undertake it. I suppose the impelling reason was my own inclination and taste. From my earliest childhood local history and family relations afforded great interest. As I grew older this passion increased and culminated in the study of various ancestral lines but the one of greatest appeal was the family whose name I bore. For more than forty years I have been collecting the material on which this history is based. During the years when I was actively engaged in teaching little time could be spared and application was more or less spasmodic. Since my retirement in 1934 it has taken the lion's share of my time.

At all times I was supported by the influence of my father, Hollum Langworthy (64), who was always ready to assist with money and advice. Both of my parents were devoted to their kindred. In carrying out their desires they originated the Annual Reunion of the Descendants of Andrew and Rachel (Hubbard) Langworthy (1) and the first two gatherings were held at their home near West Edmeston, Otsego County, New York. The first took place June 11, 1891.

Next I must acknowledge my obligation to the Reunion itself. This organization has cooperated with all of our efforts and has given financial support in making our plans known. I was chosen secretary and genealogist in 1900 and have served continuously since that date. It seems fitting that the history of the Reunion should be given and you will find it in Appendix III.

It seems deplorable that men and women should not know about their own ancestors while so much thought is given to the pedigrees of their horses, cattle and even their dogs and cats. The generations in the human family are so long that no one can find many generations between himself and his first American ancestor. It is not difficult to remember one's own line of descent if it is once known. To learn how our forefathers lived and struggled to establish themselves in a new land, to learn how well they succeeded in building our splendid civilization should be a stimulus to aggressive and right living. While the Langworthys have not been one of the most prominent families they have done their full share in originating and developing those principles on which our splendid nation rests.

It is interesting to know that our earliest American ancestors were residents of Rhode Island, the first civil government to hold tenaciously to the right of every individual to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, or the complete separation of church and state. Our forefathers were among those who suffered for conscience' sake. The tradition in the branch of the family to which the author belongs is that Andrew Langworthy was driven from England by religious persecution leaving a considerable estate behind. If that is true it may explain how he happened to settle in Rhode Island, the one spot in Christendom where perfect religious freedom was established. Though the smallest of the colonies its influence in this particular leavened the whole group and our nation led the whole world in maintaining this right.

The Langworthy family has been a sturdy middle class family whose members have engaged in all kinds of endeavor. Perhaps the greatest number have been tillers of the soil, the most fundamental and necessary activity. Many have distinguished themselves in business, medicine and education. Some have been lawyers. As a whole they appear to be particularly well adapted for medicine and a considerable number have won high rank in that profession. Any good work has had its appeal.

We wish to express our thanks to a multitude who have contributed data for the completion of this record. Very little material had been gathered before this was undertaken. A few articles should be mentioned. The earliest in preparation was Lyman Barker Langworthy's (429) Memorandum and Reminiscences, Personal Sketches and Memoirs of the Family Langworthy. He started writing this in 1848 and it was continued till near the end of his life, the latter part like a diary, making note of the principal events year by year. He says he recorded "such facts as were within my knowledge of my progenitors." With no available records he must have depended upon tradition and much he gave modern research proves incorrect. He had valuable data for those who were closely related to him.

William Franklin Langworthy, The Author (65)

Alfred Amos Langworthy (201) of Hopkinton, Rhode Island, published a series of articles in the Hope Valley (R. I.) Advertizer in the eighteen hundred nineties. They were eighteen in number and while they gave much general information they were more particularly concerned with the descendants of Thomas Langworthy (187). His data have proved accurate and valuable. A long and helpful correspondence was carried on with him.

Colonel F. L. Palmer (239) of Atlanta, Georgia, wrote a Langworthy Genealogy which was mimeographed and distributed in 1904. A revised edition was sent out in 1927 and a third much more full in 1932. This contained data for the descendants of Robert and Mary (Brownell) Langworthy (186) and much information about families allied with the Langworthys. It covered much the same field as the records of Alfred Amos Langworthy but gave more facts about the Langworthys who had settled about Alfred, New York. His work was very helpful.

Among others whose correspondence has made large contributions the following must be mentioned:

Dr. C. Ford Langworthy, formerly of the Agricultural Department, Washington, D. C.
Harvey P. Langworthy, Rochester, N. Y.
Hiram P. Langworthy, Tulsa, Oklahoma.
Freeman H. Langworthy, Warren, Pa.
Mrs. S. B. Langworthy, Leavenworth, Kansas.
Mrs. Flora Langworthy Hiscox, Baldwin, N. Y.
Mrs. Minnie Langworthy White, Ithaca, N. Y.
Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Langworthy, Brookfield, N. Y.
F. E. Udell, St. Louis, Mo.
James C. Collier, Dubuque, Iowa.
Mrs. George S. Skinner, Princeton, Ill.
Mrs. Mary F. Langworthy Lee, Portland, Oregon.
Mrs. J. S. Langworthy Stephens, Dubuque, Iowa.
Mrs. Frances F. Langworthy Poole, Dubuque, Iowa.
Byron A. Langworthy, Ceres, N. Y.
Mrs. Ben Osborn, Eau Claire, Wis.
Mrs. George R. West, Los Angeles, Cal.
Mrs. Mary Langworthy Crissey, Jamestown, N. Y.
Phineas Jason Langworthy, Harpersfield, Ohio.
S. S. Madigan, Syracuse, N. Y.
Mrs. Bessie Galbraith, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Celia Langworthy Cooley, Santa Clara, Cal.
Mrs. Mary Langworthy Temple, Muskegon, Mich.
Isaac Russell Langworthy, Hoosick, N. Y.
Mrs. Ada Langworthy Collier, Dubuque, Iowa.
Mrs. Lena C. Merz, Jamestown, N. Y.

The author recognizes that this is not a perfect genealogy. Many circumstances prevented that. In some cases records from different sources varied. Those which seemed most reliable have been used. It could not be made complete for data from many families could not be secured. Scores of inquiries were not answered. In some groups records have been lost. The sketches of some families are more complete than others. This results from the fullness of the information received. It has been our aim to treat all the same but we are not gifted with any supernatural knowledge. It all had to be gathered by diligent study. To make the records as complete as possible has been the aim. We hope it will meet with the approval of all.

Our plan has been to give some account of Andrew and Rachel (Hubbard) Langworthy's immediate family and then take up in as full detail as possible the records of their three sons who left families. These are taken in order of birth as near as we could ascertain that fact. They come in this order: Samuel, Robert, James. It may be that other children left posterity but if so we have not been able to find any trace of them.

THE LANGWORTHY FAMILY

Andrew Langworthy

Little is known of the early history of Andrew Langworthy. No one can tell where he was born or when. Of Lawrence Langworthy, the pewterer, who came to Rhode Island at an early date, we know much more. His is the oldest monument in memory of a Langworthy that has been found in America. It is situated in the Willow Cemetery (now called the City Cemetery) in Newport, R. I. The inscription says he was "of Ashburton, in ye county of Devonshire." He "died Oct. ye 19, 1739, in ye 47 year of his age."

Some of the prominent genealogists of Rhode Island assume that Andrew was a brother of Lawrence; others that he was father. Neither hypothesis seems possible for the date of Lawrence's birth appears to be too late. The fact of both having come to Newport suggests that they were probably related and leads us to suppose that Andrew also came from Devonshire. The name is common in that county and has been for a long time.

On our visit to England in 1927, Mr. Richard Langworthy of Plymouth gave us much valuable information about the family. He said there were two farms and a village in the parish of North Lue, near Holesworth in North Devon, called Langworthy, a Langworthy farm near Widecombe-in-the-Moor and a residence in Elburton with Langworthy on the gate. He also gave the names and addresses of many Langworthys and told of several who had met death in the World War. We met a few of the living. I visited the farm near Widecombe and found the surroundings very interesting. A picture taken from the farmyard shows the appearance of the house and some of the outbuildings. The farm is not occupied or owned by Langworthys at the present time and has not been for many years but the name Langworthy still persists.

The author has found many references to Langworthys of past generations. A goodly number lived in Devon; some in other parts of England. Appendix IV gives some of these facts.

A search of all existing Vital Records of Ashburton and the adjoining parishes of Woodland, Bickington, Islington and Widecombe has been made without revealing any Langworthy to be identified with Andrew unless it might be Andrewe Langworthie, son of Richard, who was baptized at Widecombe "30 Nov. 1610." Widecombe lies six and one-half miles north of Ashburton which is the principal town in that district. It has been an important center and still is to some extent. At one time it was a stanary town and elected two members of Parliament. It might naturally be given as the place from which one came even if one really came from a neighboring parish. The name Lawrence Langworthy is common in the records of Ashburton but no Lawrence born between 1690 and 1695, the date of Lawrence of Newport, R. I., could be found. We must keep in mind the incompleteness of the records. They are mostly church records and only the Established Church kept them with regularity. If the families from which Andrew and Lawrence came were not members of that church we could not expect to find any mention of them. There is a tradition in the branch of the family to which the author belongs that Andrew was driven from the country by religious persecution and fled leaving much property behind.

We are also without information as to the ship by which Andrew came to America, or when he landed. Some say he was at Newport as early as 1642 but no exact time for his arrival can be fixed. The first definite date is the record of his baptism by Rev. Obadiah Holmes, "at the mill" in Newport, on Oct. 6, 1652. We do not know his occupation. He bought and sold land but not so extensively as some other pioneers of Newport. A few deeds are in existence, but the number does not indicate that he was a large landowner. The Newport records are not very complete, however, because of the treatment they received during the Revolution. (See Richman's Rhode Island of the American Commonwealth Series, page 259.)

When the British surrendered Newport in 1779 loyalists seized the town records and placed them on a warship to be carried to New York. The vessel sank in Hellgate, the records were saved but had been soaked in salt water. Washington recovered them through the British general Sir Guy Carleton and they were returned to Newport, where they rested for a long period before an attempt was made to restore them. As a result the records are fragmentary, much having been permanently lost. In the few deeds to which Andrew was a party his occupation does not appear. Some have suggested that the early Langworthys may have been sailors and certainly some of them were, but there is nothing to indicate that Andrew was a sailor. There is nothing to suggest that he was a tradesman. The matter will have to remain in obscurity unless additional information comes to light.

As to Andrew's character we infer that he was a moral, upright citizen, because of the associations he established. He was baptized into the membership of Dr. John Clarke's Baptist church at Newport early in its history, married the daughter of Samuel and Tacy (Cooper) Hubbard who were among the most prominent leaders of the Baptist church, and soon joined them in the membership of the recently formed Seventh Day Baptist Church of which they, and Rachel, Andrew's wife, were charter members. The Hubbards were among the sturdiest religious leaders of the colony.

We have a glimpse of Rachel's household activities in one of her father's letters. On Feb. 26, 1676-7 he wrote to his nephew, John Brandish of Boston, " . . . . My wife and daughter Langworthy desired me to write about flax, yt if y° bring some 20 pound if at a pound of flax for a pound of wool; its so at Stonington; if bring Indian corn its now 4 pound of wool for a bushel & I think it will be more." Rachel's character seems to have made an impression on the leaders of other communities. At the close of a long letter to Samuel Hubbard from "the Church of Christ at Providence" dated 18th 2 mo 1670 these words are found, > Commend us unto your wife and daughter Rachel.

> Subscribed by the appointment of the church,
> Thomas Olney, senior.

The principal events in the lives of Andrew and Rachel which have come down to us are as follows:

Andrew Langworthy[1] probably born in Devonshire, England. He may have been Andrewe Langworthie, son of Richard, who was baptized at Widecombe "30 Nov. 1610." See Widecombe Vital Records, Appendix V.

1652, Oct. 6. Baptized "at the mill" by Rev. Obadiah Holmes.

1655. Freeman of Newport.

1656, March 10. One of 98 to begin negotiations for the purchase of Canonicut (Jamestown Island). His name spelled Langworth.

1657, May 19. Freeman of "this Collony."

1658, Nov. 3. Married Rachel Hubbard.

1660, June 29. One of 76 to purchase land in Misquomicutt (or the Narragansett country) from the Indian chieftain, Sosoa.

1666, May 7. Member of "Grand Jurry at Newport. Genrl Court of Tryalls."

1666. One of 98 persons to sign for purchase of Canonicut.

1676, Feb. Joined Seventh Day Baptist Church in Newport.

1680. Taxed 4s 4d. Austin says he died this year but see Hubbard's statement just below.

1686, March 28. Samuel Hubbard writes that his three sons-in-law were living.

1690, July 4. Deeds 50 acres "in Misquomicutt allias Westerly in ye Collony of Rhode Island & providence plantations, which he had purchased of Hugh Moshier, to heirs of William Reap." Deed is found in Appendix VI.

Between 1690 and 1692 seems to have been the time of his death. This is fixed by date of above deed and the fact that his name is omitted from the church list dated 1692.

Rachel Hubbard was the daughter of Samuel and Tase (Cooper) Hubbard and was born March 10, 1642, at Agawam, now Springfield, Mass. She was taken by her parents to Fairfield, Conn., in 1647 and later, Oct. 12, 1648, to Rhode Island.

1658, Nov. 3. Married Andrew Langworthy.

1661, Sept. 29. Baptized by Elder John Crandall.

1666, Jan. 15. Began "keeping of the Lord's holy 7th day Sabbath."

1671, Dec. 23. Entered into a church covenant with William Hiscox, Stephen Mumford, Samuel Hubbard, Roger Baster, Sister Hubbard and Sister Mumford (Organization of the first Seventh Day Baptist Church in America).

1674, Sep. 30. Was baptized and had hands laid on her by Rev. William Hiscox of the Seventh Day Baptist Church. (Down to the present time a large part of the descendants of Andrew and Rachel have been members of that church.)

May 7, 1688, Samuel Hubbard wrote to Richard Brooks of Boston, "The mesles is not gone here, my daughter Rachel have them and some of her family."

1692. On church membership list at Newport.

1699, Sept. 17. Member of a committee of the church to visit Sarah Tifft in answer to her request.

1708, July 21. On church list.
5d. 9m. 1712 follows above entry. It has been suggested that it is the date of Rachel's death.

It is impossible to name all of the children of Andrew and Rachel or to give the relative age except the oldest. At first we did not know the number and only reached it by a process of elimination from data contained in a letter Samuel Hubbard wrote to his sister, Mary Greenleaf of Boston, on March 28, 1686.

Just now I remember what my mother's words were near 70 years ago. That thankfulness for mercys was a coning way of begging more mercies. Psalm 103, 12, 17, 18. And I may say with old Jacob, Gen. 32, 10, that I came over with myself and God have made me 3 bands. This day I heard God have added one grandchild more to my store, that now I have grandchildren 28, great grandchildren 10, son-in-laws 3 & my 3 daughters now alive, 4 I buried; my all and mine 49. And I may say with apostle John, 3 John 4, I have no greater joy than to hear of my children walking in the truth, & with me and my wife all of them and two of their husbands the other is a baptized person, & two of my grand daughters & both of their husbands with me also.

The public records show that Thomas Clarke was born to Hubbard's daughter Bethiah, who had married Joseph Clarke on March 17, just before the letter, and he was her eighth child. His other daughter Ruth married Robert Burdick and had nine children that grew up, one died young. These were all of Hubbard's family to have children. This shows that Andrew and Rachel had at least ten.

With the full information about the families of the Clarkes and Burdicks it is disappointing to find so little about the Langworthys. The explanation seems to be that the Burdicks and Clarkes removed from Newport to Westerly, R. I., where the records have been preserved.

The above conclusion about the number of children in the family is verified by an article in the Literary Diary of Ezra Stiles, Pres. of Yale Univ., Vol. III, page 82. (A copy is in the Syracuse Public Library—Reference and History Room.)

I took this inscription off a gravestone in a family burying place on Bp. Berkleys White Hall farm on Rh. Isld about A. D. 1763. Collector Robinson bought the lease about 1765 and demolished the gravestones & put them into wall: so that all is lost. From a loose paper which I wrote 1763 I now copy here. Saml Hubb (d) was a Baptist Teacher—settled at Newpt about 1648 and made this Eben. 1688. Intricate as it seems, more is contained on this stone than can be given in other words in so small a space. I think 1688 must be a year common to 4 dates. I should suppose the stone erected Sept. 27, 1688 when the wife was aet 79 & 7 mo. and Mr. Hubb (d) was aet 78 on 10 May that year & on 4 Jany. that year they had been married 51 Yrs. The 14V psal 4 is 145th Psalm & 4th v., one generation shall praise thy works to another. The B & C I think a beautiful way of expressing lineal desecents. Thus Naomi (B) Rogers I take to be Naomi Burdick who married Rogers so Judah Maxson was daughter of Bethiah Clark & will be read Judah Clark.

This proves that Andrew and Rachel had ten children and agrees with what we had learned by the other reasoning. It also shows that three of their family had died between March 28, 1686 and Sep. 27, 1688. (We wonder if they died of the "mesles.")

For fuller account of Samuel Hubbard consult Appendix VII.

The following list contains the names of all the children of Andrew[1] we have been able to find, with approximate dates of birth:

Samuel, b. about 1659; d. before or during 1711.

John, b. about 1661; d. between 1692 when his name is on the list of members of the Newport Seventh Day Baptist Church, and Sep. 30, 1700, when a committee of the church was "appointed to visit Elizabeth Langworthy, John's widow, to enquire into her state and proceed therein as the Lord shall direct."

Andrew; d. of small pox at the fort in Newport, 1739.
Robert, b. about 1675; d. about 1720.
James, b. 1680; d. 1720.

We can find very little information about John, which we give at this point, then take up the records of the others in probable order of birth, but keeping in mind that James may be older than Robert.

John[2] married Elizabeth —— (d. after Sep. 30, 1700).

In Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War, as quoted in N. E. G. & A. R., Vol. XLIII, page 269, a John Langworthy was at the garrison at Westfield, July 24, 1676. While this John, son of Andrew, was young to be in the military service, such cases are not unknown. Cole's History of Washington and Kent Counties, page 770, records that Daniel Babcock of Hopkinton enlisted as a recruit to serve when wanted, during the Revolution, when 14 years old. He was born Aug. 31, 1762. An account of his service may be found in the Babcock Genealogy, page 113. A Langworthy relative tells me she personally knew Col. George W. Johns, formerly of Fairfield, Ill., who enlisted at the age of 12 in the Civil War and came out, at the age of 16, a colonel.

It seems probable that this John was the father of John Langworthy, who married Mary Lewis before Aug. 4, 1721, when Mary Langworthy, the oldest daughter of Daniel Lewis, and her husband, John Langworthy, join in certain deeds with her brothers and sisters, transactions apparently connected with the settlement of her father's estate. This John left a will dated July 13, 1748, which gives his estate to be equally divided between his son John and daughter Mary Lanphear.

From the Vital Records of Rhode Island, Vol. V, page 18, we learn that Mary Langworthy married Jan. 22, 1739, by Elder John Maxson, Nathan Lanphere.

6 children born in Westerly (Lanphere):

Mary, b. Apr. 5, 1740.
Nathan, b. Feb. 18, 1742. He was twice married. A daughter by his first wife was Hannah who married Nathan Stillman and lived in Brookfield, N. Y.
Elisha, b. Jan. 21, 1744.

Jonathan, b. Apr. 19, 1748.
Langworthy, b. Feb. 5, 1753.
Amey (corrected in lead pencil to Amos), b. March 20, 1755.

Mary Langworthy Lanphere appears to have died some time before Dec. 7, 1758, for at that time Nathan Lanphere married Anna Champlain.

There are two families whose ancestor was a John Langworthy one of which may be descended from this younger John, but we have not been able to find sufficient information to make their connection certain.

These facts come to us from the Record Book of the General Court of Trials, 1671-1724, Newport, R. I.: "At a general court of tryalls for ye Collony of Rhode Island and providence plantations the 4th day of September 1694: Jurymen: Andrew Langworthy."

The same thing appears in March 26th, 1695, and the name does not occur again in the Newport records probably because he moved to Little Compton. He married about 1729 at Little Compton. A son, Joseph, was born May 10, 1710. Andrew Langworthy, of Little Compton, Bristol County, Mass., deeded land to Samuel Langworthy, Husbandman, of Westerly under date of July 1, 1717.

History of the Descendants of Samuel Langworthy the Oldest Son of Andrew

1 Samuel Langworthy[2]. Born about 1659; d. before or during 1711; m. July 21, 1680 (?) Rachel ——, b. —— d. before Nov. 23, 1716. Rachel Langworthy was baptized into the membership of the Westerly Seventh Day Baptist church on July 21, 1708. Whether it was this Rachel or her daughter we can not tell.

Nov. 23, 1716. John Phillips and Ruth, his wife, swear that Samuel Langworthy was the oldest son of Andrew Langworthy, "form. of Newport, but died at Pettyquamscott."

Nov. 26, 1716. Joseph Crandall swears as above and that said Samuel Langworthy and his wife lived at Newport, R. I., near Turner's Lane, and died at Pettyquamscott.

Ruth (Burdick) Phillips was own cousin of Samuel, and Joseph Crandall was probably his son-in-law, though there is some uncertainty about this because Joseph's father as well as his oldest son bore that name.

Nov. 28, 1711, is fixed as the latest possible date of death because at that time another Samuel, undoubtedly son of this Samuel, was buying property as grandson and heir of Andrew Langworthy of Newport.

Tradition says that Samuel was a sailor and the author has a piece of logwood which he is said to have brought from the West Indies.

It seems probable this family was small since Samuel (2) is referred to as grandson and heir of Andrew, no brothers or sisters mentioned.

3 children:

2 Ann; d. probably in 1773, for her will was probated Nov. 29, 1773.

6 Samuel; d. Aug. 1, 1763.

Rachel; d. after Feb. 19, 1745/6.

Joseph Crandall in his will charged his sons, Joseph, James and William, to "keep and maintain my sister-in-law, Rachel Langworthy, with all ye comfortable necessaries of life during the time of Her Natural Life." Rachel was probably an unmarried sister of Ann and Samuel though she may have been the widow of an unknown brother.

6 Samuel Langworthy[3] (Samuel[2]). Born ——; d. Aug. 1, 1763; m. Aug. 7, 1736, by Elder John Maxson, Mary Crandall, daughter of John Crandall of Hopkinton, R. I. (She d. before May 29, 1766, the date her will was proved.)

Westerly Land Evidences, 1707–1717, Page 92, has this entry:

To all people to whom these presents shall com know that I Ebenezer Serls of the town of Stonington and collony of Connectticutt now & for and in consideration of the sale of a tract of Land and dide given by my father John Serls of the town and Collony afors[d]—which ded is to be found & past over unto Andrew Langworthy of the town of Newport and Collony of Rhoad Island and for the consideration of the sum of twenty Shillings to me already paid by the Grandson and heir of the afors[d] Andrew Langworthy Samuel Langworthy of the town of Westerly & Collone of rhoade island do by these presents give convey and confirm unto ye S[d] Samuel Langworthy his heirs & assigns forever a portion & tract of land which befefor mentioned lying and being in the town of Westerly and Collony aforsaid.

Ebenezer Searls (seal)

A long description of the tract of land follows. The deed is dated "this 28 Day of November in the year 1711 and in the tenth year of the reigne of our Souverigne Lady Ann Queen of Great brittain."

Another record on file in Westerly Land Evidences, 1707–1717, No. 2, pages 113–114, shows that Samuel Langworthy was one of the group of men who purchased a tract of land comprising about 5300 acres in the town of Westerly which the General Assembly had ordered sold on "the second day of october in the tenth yeare of ye Reigne of her majestie Ann Queen of Great brittaine anno Domine, 1711." The land was divided according to the amount contributed toward the expenses connected with its transfer which amounted to £6–11s–7d. Samuel L. made a payment of 1s–9d which would indicate that his share was small.

Cole's History of Washington and Kent Counties makes the statement, pages 768–769, "In 1680 a Mr. Samuel Langworthy (son of Andrew) married Rachel ——. He with 33 others bought 5300 acres of vacant land in Narragansett which the Assembly ordered sold, Oct. 2nd, 1711." There may be some question whether it was the father, Samuel[2], or the son but our opinion inclines to the view that it was the son.

The homestead founded by Samuel[3] was situated in that part of Westerly, R. I., which was later set off as Hopkinton Township and was near Hopkinton City. It contained 350 to 400 acres and is now owned by a family by the name of Browning. While some of it is in good tillage the most of it has grown up to weeds, bushes and trees. It descended to Samuel[4] and Joseph[4] and was finally sold to settle the estate of Robert (120). It is stony and hard to cultivate. The whole farm was purchased by Mr. Browning for less than $2500. A quarry to produce the Westerly granite was opened on it but the quality proved too poor to be worth working. The author used to wonder why so many of his branch of the family had migrated from Rhode Island to the comparatively poor and hilly land of Brookfield, N. Y., but after visiting the old place he could understand the gain.

The old house has been gone for many years, and even the one built by Robert L. to take its place had burned before the author visited the farm in 1902, though its great chimney with several fireplaces still stood. On the farm are two cemeteries, one of which is said to be the burial place of some Indians. The other undoubtedly is the place where Samuel L.[3] and many of his descendants were laid away. Several rough stones still stand but if they ever bore inscriptions they are past deciphering though the author did find one in 1902 which bore the name Mary. It had disappeared on his last visit.

Samuel's will in the stately and formal language of that day disposed of his worldly possessions in minute detail and made his wife Mary his executrix. His wife did not long survive him and her will was approved by the Town Council on May 29, 1766. Her daughter Elizabeth was appointed Administratrix of her estate.

7 children, born in Hopkinton:

Mary, b. May 1, 1739.

7 Elizabeth, b. May 31, 1741; d. probably before 1785.

Rachel, b. June 8, 1743; was alive Feb. 25, 1793; m. Oct. 5, 1771, Timothy Larkin, son of John and Mary (Macoon) Larkin, who were married July 24, 1730. Timothy was born in Westerly, Oct. 10, 1736 and married Sarah Nye at Hopkinton, June 9, 1763. By her he had one child, Sarah b. 1769, who married Gideon Kenyon and died 1848. Heads of Families in 1790—R. I., says, page 43, that Timothy Larkin in 1790 had 3 males 16 and over, 3 males under 16 and 5 females in his family. Most of these must have been children of Rachel but we can find no definite records. Rachel signed a deed with her husband on Feb. 25, 1793.

8 Samuel, b. Nov. 27, 1745; d. Oct. 1, 1818.

Tacy, b. Nov. 20, 1747.

140 Joseph, b. Feb. 6, 1749; d. May 6, 1824.

Hannah, b. June 21, 1752; received as member of the Second Baptist Church of Richmond, R. I., Oct. 26, 1777. Signed call to Charles Boss to become their watchman, Apr. 19, 1781.

7 Elizabeth Langworthy[4] (Samuel[3],[2]). Born May 31, 1741; d. probably before 1785; m. Oct. 22, 1768, Benjamin Kenyon, son of Jonathan of Charlestown, by Joseph Crandall, Justice. She was appointed the Administratrix of her mother's estate on May 29, 1766.

4 children:

Rogers or Roger Kenyon, b. Nov. 5, 1769; m. Apr. 6, 1791, Esther Maxson of Westerly, R. I., and had two children.
Elizabeth, b. Oct. 27, 1771; d. ——.
Augustus, b. Sep. 21, 1773; m. Oct. 11, 1798, Joanna Pendleton and had a daughter Polly, b. Oct. 31, 1799, in Hopkinton.
Tacy, b. June 23, 1777; d. ——.

Elizabeth seems to have died before 1785 when Mr. Kenyon married a second time.

8 Samuel Langworthy[4] (Samuel[3], [2]). Born Nov. 27, 1745; d. Oct. 1, 1818; m. Jan. 24, 1771, Mercy Saunders, daughter of Tobias of Charlestown, by Nathan Burdick, Justice. Tobias was the son of Stephen, son of Tobias, the pioneer. Mercy, b. Sep. 20, 1752, d. Apr. 19, 1822. Both were buried in the First Hopkinton Cemetery. The inscription on the Monument for Samuel reads, "In Memory of Mr. Samuel Langworthy who died Oct. 1, 1818 in the 74th year of his age, after a long and distressing illness which he bore with distinguished patience & breathed his last with humble submission & full assurance of a blessed immortality." Mercy's tombstone bears this inscription, "In Memory of Mrs. Mercy Langworthy relict of Mr. Samuel Langworthy who died Apr. 19, 1822, aged 69 years."

According to his father's will, on reaching maturity he inherited the east half of the homestead, for dividing which with his brother Joseph the father left minute details. He seems to have prospered and apparently acquired Joseph's inheritance for Joseph sold another farm instead of this when he moved to Bridgewater, N. Y., in 1902. There is a tradition that Samuel left a farm to each one of his twelve children but we can not find proof of this though he left a goodly inheritance to each one, perhaps enough to buy a farm.

May 3, 1791 he purchased Lot 80, in Township 19 of the Chenango Twenty Towns. It included 250 acres in what is now known as Brookfield, Madison Co., N. Y. It was described as "on the west side of the Unadilla River" though it is two miles away on the hills. June 21, 1802, on the margin of the deed he assigned it to Peleg Langworthy, his second son. Much of it has remained in the possession of his descendants to this time and is now owned by Mrs. Clark Stillman.

SAMUEL AND MERCY (SAUNDERS) LANGWORTHY (8)

12 children, all born in Hopkinton, R. I.:

84 Charles Babcock, b. March 11, 1816; d. May 27, 1886.
88 Samuel, b. Oct. 29, 1818; d. Aug. 9, 1886.

Nathan Langworthy was received as a member of the Second Baptist Church of Richmond, R. I., Oct. 16, 1803; his wife Abigail on Oct. 30, 1803. Both were dismissed to the First Baptist Church of Brookfield, N. Y., Jan. 18, 1806. This marks the date of their settlement in New York, where they made their permanent home on a farm in the southeastern part of the township, on the hills above West Edmeston. Her descendants remembered her as a fine business woman of strong well-balanced character.

57*c* William Franklin Langworthy[6] (Nathan[5], Samuel[4], [3], [2]). Born June 2, 1802; d. Sep. 23, 1862 near Cedarville, N. Y., neck broken by a fall; m. July 2, 1832, Desire Allen Bass (b. Apr. 24, 1810 Edmeston, N. Y., d. Dec. 23, 1889 near South Brookfield, N. Y.).

He was brought to Brookfield, Madison County, by his parents in 1806. When a young man he went to the "Genesee Country" in western New York intending to make his home there but was called back by the illness of his father. He finally purchased of the heirs of Col. Robert Edmeston of Berwick-upon-Tweed, England, a part of the North Mount farm, across the Unadilla Valley in sight of the parents' home. They commenced housekeeping in a log house, where his oldest daughter was born. The frame house in which the rest of the family first saw the light of day still stands and in it all of the children of his oldest son Hollum were born.

William Franklin Langworthy was commonly called Franklin, or "Captain." He held a commission as Captain of the 143 Regiment of Infantry which was issued by Gov. DeWitt Clinton. He was a man of ability and unquestioned honor. Starting empty handed he was able to leave a farm to each one of his six children. He was a man of great physical strength and endurance. Was a capable wrestler which was a popular sport in his day. When he had business at the county seat, Cooperstown, which was twenty miles from his home, he started on foot in the morning and returned at night having walked all the way. He was greatly interested in education and took great pains to provide the best schooling for his children. He himself taught many winters. He was strongly opposed to slavery.

9 children, were all born in Edmeston, N. Y.:

Joseph was only fourteen years of age at the death of his father from whom at maturity he inherited the west half of the homestead farm in Hopkinton. Minute directions about the division of the farm with his brother Samuel were given by the father in his will. He appears to have cultivated this land until about 1802 for the Hopkinton records reveal that on Oct. 18, 1802, Joseph and Lois Langworthy deeded 130 acres in Hopkinton to Nathan Potter and Elisha Lanphear for $1500. The Oneida County Clerk's Office (Utica, N. Y.) records that John I. Morgan granted Lot 86 in Twentieth Township of the Chenango Twenty Towns on the Unadilla River to Joseph Langworthy of Bridgewater on April 30, 1803. To this place which came to be known as Langworthy Hill he brought a large family, born in Hopkinton. Here he spent his last days. He was a Seventh Day Baptist and though living in Bridgewater he was practically in the same community as those of that faith who had preceeded him in the settlement of Brookfield.

THE DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT LANGWORTHY

The existence of a person of this name has been questioned by some genealogists because the name does not appear in the public records. This does not seem to have great force because only four names of Andrew's ten children are found there—Samuel, John, Andrew and James. Family tradition prevailing very commonly in a large branch of the Langworthys claims descent from a Robert Langworthy, and we think the position is well taken on account of the well-grounded belief of reliable persons and for other reasons.

The positive evidence for a Robert is of various kinds. Content Langworthy (born Feb. 2, 1788; died 1884) was the second wife of Deacon Daniel Lewis. Before her death she dictated a statement to her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Content (Lewis) Burdick which has come down to us: "There were two families once lived in Seconet vicinity one mile from the shore or coast; 1st, Robert Langworthy who was born between the years 1675 and 1690. His wife was Mary Brownell," etc. This came to the author from Alfred Amos Langworthy who said its contents was corroborated by Miss Sarah A. Langworthy who at that time, 1900, was more than eighty years old. Alfred Amos, himself an elderly man, born in 1841, said the descendants of Robert and Samuel, living in the same communities in Rhode Island, claimed relationship but no one seemed able to explain just how it was.

A very old account book which came down to Albert Wayland Langworthy of Alfred contains many family records, and among them this statement," Robert Langworthy was the father of Thomas Langworthy, Sen."

H. P. Langworthy of Kansas City, Mo., later of Tulsa, Okla., who did considerable work on the family history in the eighteen hundred-eighties, allowed me to copy some of his papers and records. Amongst this material were letters from Rev. Isaac Pendleton Langworthy, D.D. (243), of Chelsea, Mass., born Jan. 19, 1806, a graduate of Yale and a man of outstanding character and ability. He wrote, July 3, 1886, "My father's name was John, who was the son of John, who was the son of Thomas, who was the son of Robert."

Aug. 3, 1886 he wrote, "I have two older brothers living, 84 and 86, whom I expect to see in a few weeks and of whom I will make inquiries, taking your letter with me." These brothers must have been William Pendleton Langworthy (229) (born March 20, 1802) and John Avery Langworthy (born Dec. 27, 1799). (224)

Under date of Sep. 13, 1886 he wrote, "My older brother—84—who lived with my grandfather, great uncle and great-grandmother remembers very well hearing them speak of Uncle Joseph, Uncle Robert and Uncle Samuel and that they used to live in Stonington." This brother must have been William Pendleton Langworthy. He had been associated with three earlier generations; his father, John Jr., his grandfather, John, Sr., John Sr.'s brother, Thomas, Jr., and his great-grandmother, Content (Sanford) Langworthy (born Jan. 10, 1709; died Feb. 16, 1814). William Pendleton Langworthy was 12 years old and Isaac Pendleton L. 8 before their great-grandmother passed away. Content should certainly have known the name of her husband's father and mother. William and Isaac would naturally have learned it from her and others. John, Jr., and Thomas, Jr., had uncles named Robert and Joseph who lived in Stonington according to the public records. Samuel Langworthy, the oldest son of Andrew, was an uncle of Content Langworthy's husband, if Robert, 1st, was a son of Andrew, but as far as we know Samuel did not at any time live in Stonington.

A deed in the Bristol County (Mass.) Land Records, No. 31, page 283, gives sure evidence of the relationship of Thomas and Joseph Langworthy of Stonington to a Robert Brownell of Little Compton. This is dated Nov. 27, 1742, and conveys to John Brownell, Junr., "one acre & half of Land Scituate Lying & Being In Little Compton aforsd ye which descended & fell to myself & Brother Thomas Langworthy from my honrd Grandfather Robert Brownel Late of Little Compton decd." It is signed by Joseph Langworthy. The whole deed is given in Appendix VIII. The vital records show that a Mary Brownell, daughter of a Robert Brownell, married William Congdon, March 3, 1693, and that a John Sanford of Little Compton and Patience Langworthy were married Oct. 9, 1722, by Richard Billings, Justice. (Arnold's "Vital Records of Rhode Island," Vol. IV, pages 38, 51). The deed shows conclusively that a Robert Brownell was the grandfather of Robert Langworthy's two sons, Joseph and Thomas. The names Robert and Mary are so common in the Brownell family and John so frequent among the Sanfords that it is possible all views could be reconciled if we had all of the facts.

The natural conclusion is that there was a Robert Langworthy and that he was a son or possibly grandson of Andrew and Rachel (Hubbard) Langworthy. The first view seems more probable.

The facts about this family seem to be as follows:

186 Robert Langworthy[2]. Born about 1675; d. about 1720; m. about 1700, Mary Brownell (d. in 1735, daughter of Robert Brownell of Little Compton, R. I.). He lived at Little Compton (or Seconnet) and died at a comparatively early age. After a time his widow married John Sanford (or Sandford), a widower, who had a family by his first wife, Content Howland. Soon after they sold their property and moved to what is now known as North Stonington, Conn., where they purchased a large tract near the present Clark's Falls. As nearly as we can tell this was about 1724. Some of this land continued in the possession of descendants until John Langworthy, Jr., moved to Alfred, N. Y., in 1842. Malcolm Thompson is the present owner (1936). The house burned in 1931 and Mr. Thompson built across the road from the site of the original house. On this farm is the cemetery in which many generations of the descendants of Robert were buried. A plot will be found in Appendix VII.

Robert and Mary had these 4 children, all born in Little Compton:

Robert. He was a carpenter but died when young of bilious colic. Was engaged to Elizabeth Burdick, daughter of Deacon Robert[2] and Rebecca (Foster) Burdick of Westerly, R. I., who later married his brother Joseph.

187 Thomas, b. 1704; d. Aug. 25, 1777.

268 Joseph, b. ——; d. ——.

Mary, b. ——; d. at the age of twelve years of fever. Her mother died of the same disease a little later.

187 Thomas Langworthy[3] (Robert[2]). Born in Little Compton, R. I., in 1704 but moved about 1724 with his mother and family to North Stonington, Conn., where he spent the rest of his life. Married Oct. 11, 1726, by John Rutherford, Justice, Content (b. Jan. 11, 1709; d. Feb. 18, 1814); his step-sister, the daughter of John and Content (Howland) Sanford. He died Aug. 25, 1777. He was a farmer. They were Seventh Day Baptists. Content was baptized by Rev. George Whitefield in the Ashaway River near the bridge at Clark's Falls, Conn. She reached the advanced age of 105 years, 1 month, 5 days.

6 children, all born North Stonington:

Thomas, b. Feb. 12, 1727; d. Nov. 1, 1821 in North Stonington; unm.; lived with his mother 87 years. By trade he was a weaver but understood farming, taught school and was a historian of note. Was a Seventh Day Baptist.

Mary, b. July 20, 1731; died of throat disease when about 19; unm.

188 Amos, b. Nov. 12, 1733; d. Aug. 9, 1818.

Anna, b. March 7, 1736; m. May 12, 1756, David Wells; d. Sep. 18, 1756.

209 Sanford, b. Oct. 30, 1738; d. 1778 on Pendleton Hill, Conn.

222 John, b. Nov. 22, 1742; d. Feb. 24, 1826.

188 Amos Langworthy[4] (Thomas[3], Robert[2], Andrew[1]). Born Nov. 12, 1733; d. Aug. 9, 1818; m. Feb. 16, 1758, Sarah (b. 1737, d. Oct. 22, 1797), daughter of John and Sarah (Segar) Babcock of South Kingston, R. I. Their home was in Rhode Island one mile from Hopkinton City on what has been known as the Sanford Langworthy farm.

14 children, all born in Hopkinton:

Mary, b. Nov. 28, 1758; d. Oct. 18, 1771.

189 Benjamin, b. Feb. 26, 1760; d. Apr. 23, 1826.

Anna, b. Sep. 8, 1761; d. Oct. 8, 1830; m. Perry Maxson and moved to New York state and is said to have had eight children.

Sarah, b. July 25, 1763; d. July 27, 1816; unm.

200 Amos, Jr., b. March 2, 1765; d. July 17, 1830.

Content, b. Jan. 21, 1767; d. Apr. 22, 1774.

203 Thomas, b. Dec. 17, 1768; d. June 17, 1812.

Mary, b. Aug. 26, 1770; d. Apr. 27, 1836. Called Polly; unm.

Alice, b. June 26, 1772; d. Apr. 3, 1850; unm.
Elizabeth, b. March 9, 1774; d. June 15, 1849; unm.

John Babcock, b. May 5, 1778; d. Nov. 17, 1782.
Amy, b. June 25, 1780; d. Apr. 27, 1815; unm.
206 Sanford, b. Dec. 18, 1782; d. March 20, 1869.
Sarah, Mary, Alice, Elizabeth and Amy who did not marry lived at the old homestead and are probably all buried in the family cemetery there.

189 Benjamin Langworthy[5] (Amos[4], Thomas[3], Robert[2]). Born Feb. 26, 1760; d. Apr. 23, 1826; commonly called Captain because of his local prominence as a military man. A farmer, lived in Hopkinton, R. I. Married (1) by Elder John Burdick March 18, 1779, Eleanor Kenyon; (2) Mrs. Patience Peckham Bentley, relict of John Bentley by whom she had a daughter: Elizabeth Bentley, who married Benjamin Langworthy, her step-brother; (3) August 1, 1819, by Elder Nathan Stillman, Hannah Kenyon (d. Nov., 1871).

211 Oliver Langworthy[5] (Sanford[4], Thomas[3], Robert[2]). Born ——; d. before Apr. 8, 1830; m. ——. Aug. 9, 1799, Anthony Rhodes deeds 100 acres of land in Bridgewater to Oliver, his step-son. Frederick Pierce and Rebecca, his wife, on Apr. 8, 1830, deed property in Bridgewater to Thomas Langworthy, John Pasmore and Betsey his wife, Russell Nun and Harriet his wife and Maria L. Langworthy being heirs of Oliver Langworthy late of Bridgewater, deceased. On the same day these persons, not including Maria L. Langworthy, transfer the title to the same property to the Paris Furnace Company. These old deeds are recorded in the Oneida County Clerk's Office at Utica, N. Y., and imply that Oliver died in Bridgewater. The Babcock Genealogy says he died in Geneseo, N. Y., leaving one son. The relative age of his children could not be learned. None could be traced with certainty though Thomas below seems to be the son and Maria L. to be the same as Louisa M.

268 Joseph Langworthy[3] (Robert[2]). Born ——; m. before 1729, Elizabeth Burdick, b. in Westerly, R. I., daughter of Deacon Robert and Rebecca (Foster) Burdick; had been engaged to his brother Robert. Almost nothing is known about Joseph Langworthy except that he lived in Stonington, Conn., and deeded land in Little Compton, which had come to him and his brother Thomas from their grandfather, Robert Brownell, to John Brownell, Jr., under date of Nov. 27, 1742. (See Appendix VI for deed.)

5 children, born in Stonington as shown by the Vital Records, Book 3, page 27:

Comfort, dau. of Joseph Langworthy was born Feby ye 28, 1729.

269 Robert, son of Joseph Langworthy was born July ye 28, 1731.

Elizabeth, dau. of Joseph Langworthy was born Apr. ye 12, 1733.

427 Joseph, son of Joseph Langworthy was born Mar. ye 7, 1735.

478 Andrew, son of Joseph Langworthy was born Jan. ye 7, 1741/2.

In 1745 Comfort Langworthy and Rev. Joseph Davis (b. Sep. 24, 1726, Westerly), were married in Stonington by Elder Wait Palmer. This Comfort is assumed to be the daughter of Joseph Langworthy 268. They had a son Joseph, b. Oct. 11, 1764; m. Barbara Burdick. Nothing is known about her sister Elizabeth.

269 Robert Langworthy[4] (Joseph[3], Robert[2]). Born in Stonington, Conn., July 28, 1731; m. March 6, 1860, at Plainfield, Conn., Susannah Apley, daughter of "Widow Allis Apley." This record is taken from the First Congregational Church of Plainfield. [A Robert Langworthy married Mary Darbee in Brooklyn, Conn., March 23, 1780 (record from the Congregational Church of Brooklyn). Whether this is a second marriage of the Robert above or another Robert can not be told.] Robert seems not to have been welcome to the Selectmen of Plainfield as on Apr. 18, 1760, they ordered the constable to warn "Robart Langworthy a transient person to Depart —— and Widow Alles Aple not to entertain the Said Langworthy any Longer in her home." Perhaps as a new resident the selectmen feared he might became a charge on the town. However, on May 20, 1760, "Robart Langworthy and Susanah his wife" deeded 50 acres of land in Plainfield to James Mathews, consideration £12. Apparently they moved from the town soon after for the vital records do not give dates of birth of any of their numerous family. It is said that they lived in some other town in Connecticut, but finally made their home, after the Revolution, at Shaftsbury, Vt., near Bennington. Robert Langworthy died at the home of his son Phineas at Greenwich, N. Y. (or possibly Easton, N. Y.). Supposedly their children were born in Connecticut, but information about the family is very scanty.

A granddaughter, Martha Langworthy Rood, daughter of Henry Langworthy, said 1823. A grandson, Milo Langworthy, son of Lyman L., gave 1821. Both agreed that he died in Onondaga Co. He married Elizabeth Hill who is said to have died in Orleans Co., N. Y. On May 26, 1806, he purchased 300 acres of land, a part of Lot 80, in the town of Marcellus, now Otisco, Onondaga Co., N. Y., of Francis Robinson and Caturah, his wife. In that deed he is said to be a resident of Greenwich, Washington Co., N. Y. Deed is recorded in the County Clerk's Office, Syracuse, N. Y., Book L, Page 474. There was a large family of children but we can find the date of birth of only a few of them. It seems certain that Amon, Jr., was the oldest and that Lyman was the youngest. The exact arrangement as to age is unknown.

391 SANFORD LANGWORTHY[5] (Robert[4], Joseph[3], Robert[2]). Died 1840; m. ——. Settled in Argyle, N. Y. Could find very little information about his family. A nephew, Isaac Russell Langworthy (407), gave names of his children as follows: Ira, Phineas, Sanford, Seth, Chester, Harmon, Jason, Robert, Lucy and one other daughter he could not name. Some facts have been found in an old letter which other cousins, Robert Langworthy (302) and George Fisher, wrote to their cousin, Alonzo Langworthy (424), son of James, of Sinclairville, N. Y., Feb. 15, 1846. In this they say Chester had died at White Creek. Phineas was married and had a daughter about ten months old when he was taken ill with "inflamation" and died after a few days. He had purchased the Simon Fletcher farm. (A deed on record at the Washington County Clerk's Office at Hudson Falls shows that he purchased the Fletcher farm July 4, 1836.) Seth had lost his wife. Robert had worked for writers "considerable of the time." Lucy had died. These additional facts have been found:

392 SANFORD LANGWORTHY, JR., b. 1802; d. June 29, 1862; m. (1) Eliza Hartshorn (b. 1809, d. June 28, 1851); (2) June, 1853, Harriet Dixon. He was a farmer who lived near Greenwich, N. Y.

4 children, three by the first wife and one by the second:

William Robert, b. May 9, 1837; d. Oct. 29, 1902. He was a soldier in the Civil War and spent his last days in the Soldier's Home at Bath, N. Y.

393 Mary Jane, b. Nov. 22, 1842; d. Nov. 23, 1910.

Merritt; d. when six months old.

Franklin Pierce, b. March 22, 1855; d. March 12, 1871.

393 MARY JANE LANGWORTHY[7] (Sanford, Jr.[6], Sanford[5], Robert[4], Joseph[3], Robert[2]). Married Jan. 3, 1859, Harvey S. Tefft (b. Oct. 17, 1833, d. Jan. 13, 1893).

Served in the World War. Killed in railroad accident. Married and had a son and a daughter; (3) Lulu M.; m. Walter King and had a son named Seth and a daughter.

Bert, b. March 3, 1878; living at Greenwich, N. Y.; m. Sep. 24, 1902, Carrie M. Safford (b. Aug. 13, 1878). He is a prosperous farmer and has been Supervisor of his town for several terms. Children: (1) Mildred Mary, b. March 23, 1904, d. Oct. 5, 1918; (2) Bernice Mary, b. Aug. 14, 1906, d. Apr. 1934; (3) Bert Hartshorn, b. June 21, 1908; and (4) Philip Safford, b. Aug. 2, 1911.

394 Phineas Langworthy, son of Sanford (391); d. March 28, 1842, aged 37 years and 7 days. He was buried on the homestead of his uncle, Phineas Langworthy, near Greenwich.

395 Seth Langworthy, son of Sanford (391); d. March 15, 1870, aged 58 years. Some old deeds recorded at Hudson Falls, N. Y., show that the name of the first wife of Seth was Ruhannah ——. She must have died before Feb. 15, 1846. He afterwards married Ann Foster (b. March 14, 1811, d. June 16, 1887). Both are buried in cemetery at Greenwich, N. Y.

3 children, born in the town of Ellicott, N. Y.:

Francis Marion, b. May 15, 1850. Unm.
Charles Albert, b. Apr. 26, 1852; m. Nov. 19, 1879, Mary L. Cady (b. Oct. 17, 1857). They had four children: a daughter, Lydia Grace and Ruth Helen, d. March 28, 1921, aged 31 yrs., 7 mo., and 21 days.
Laura Caroline, b. Jan. 8, 1854; d. Sep. 5, 1925, in Sonora, Cal.; m. Apr. 20, 1875, George H. Hough (b. June 10, 1850, d. July 5, 1926). They had two children. One, Mabel, Mrs. J. H. Knorales, lives at Sonora.

427 Joseph Langworthy[4] (Joseph[3], Robert[2]). Born March 7, 1735, as shown by the Vital Records of Stonington, Conn.; d. Oct. 10, 1823, at Waltham, near Vergennes, Vt.; m. Azubah McWithey (b. July 28, 1742, at Preston, Conn., d. Dec. 3, 1823, near Vergennes). They lived together for sixty-five years. Joseph was a carpenter and builder as well as a farmer. His grandson, Lyman Barker Langworthy of Rochester, wrote "He was a man of most indomitable perseverance and industry and even at 80 years of age, he would not consent that any of his laborers should mow around him or hoe his row more speedily. He used to say 'Any one who does not work as fast as I do is lazy and he that works faster does not do his work well." At one time he lived in Plainfield, Conn., as shown by the public records. He is said to have lived in Plainfield and Sheffield, Mass., before locating at Waltham, Vt. One son was named Sheffield which is thought to indicate the place of his birth. Dr. Charles Ford Langworthy of Washington, his descendant, said the records showed that he served in the Revolutionary Army but deserted. Probably the support of his large family demanded his presence. We are dependent upon the records of Lyman Barker Langworthy (427), mentioned above, for most of the knowledge of his immediate family.

9 children:

Robert. Married and had six children: Franklin, Hanibal, Chandler, Mary, Rosamond and Rebecca. The first two died early in life. Mary married a Robinson and lived in Akron, Ohio, as did the others. Mrs. Amanda Langworthy Crosby (447) wrote that he had nine children. We could not trace the family.

Elizabeth, b. July 26, 1761, in Plainfield, Conn. (Vital Records of Plainfield); d. Fredonia, N. Y., of cancer; m. (1) in 1810 at Vergennes Vt., a man named Baker and had two children: Ammi who lived in Chautauqua Co., N. Y., and Mary who married Horatio Peck; (2) Elizabeth afterwards married a Webster.

Anne, b. Apr. 23, 1764, in Plainfield, Conn. (Vital Records of Plainfield).

428 Elisha Perkins, b. 1766; d. Dec. 10, 1827, in the 61st year of his age.

Amy; d. Dec., 1857, aged 84 in St. Lawrence Co., N. Y.; m. (1) Capt. Asahel Phippeny (d. Oct. 4, 1818, age 47) (monument in cemetery at Waltham, Vt., where Joseph and Azubah are buried); (2) late in life, Roger Brown. She survived both husbands and lived with a sister in Nicholville, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y.; over 80 years old in 1849 according to Lyman Barker L., her nephew. No children by either marriage. Another account says she had one.

Rosamond; m. Capt. David B. Hunt (d. May 22, aged 40). Probably several children: Anson, Orelia, Nancy, Mary and Jane. Capt. Hunt's monument stands in the Langworthy lot in cemetery at Waltham and also monuments for these who are probably their children: James and Julia, d. Apr. 28, 1810, aged 3 weeks and Manley D. Hunt, b. June 1, 1811; d. March 11, 1826.

452 Sheffield, b. Sep. 13, 1775; d. March 1, 1840.

462 Asher, b. Apr. 7, 1770; d. Apr. 7, 1857.

477 Asahel; d. about 1832.

428 Elisha Perkins Langworthy[5] (Joseph[4], [3], Robert[2]). Born 1766; d. Dec. 10, 1827, at Ballston Spa, N. Y., in the 61st year of his age (inscription on his tombstone at Ballston Spa, N. Y.). He was probably born at Sheffield, Mass., for he was named after the famous Dr. Elisha Perkins of that place and was given a sheep by him as the basis for a flock. He married (1) Nov. 13, 1786, Martha Barker (b. May 23, 1767, in Waterbury, Conn., d. Jan. 9, 1807, at Ballston Spa.); (2) 1808 or 1809, Green River, Columbia Co., N. Y., Abigail Smith (b. 1780, d. Nov. 15, 1836, Rochester, N. Y.). He was a clock and watchmaker, gold smith and jeweler and an ordained Baptist minister. Without much education he was gifted in speech and endowed with such a spirit that he was able to bring hundreds into the church. His longest pastorate was at Ballston Spa. It was not considered proper for a Baptist minister to receive pay for his services and so he supported himself and family from his land and trade. It is said that he did not receive enough from his church to pay for shoeing his horses. All of his sons were brought up to the same trade except Stillman. The family discipline was strict and stern as became a minister's home.

10 children, seven by the first wife and three by the second:

429 Lyman Barker, b. Oct. 21, 1787; d. March 26, 1880.
435 William Andrews, b. Sep. 14, 1790; d. Feb. 11, 1868.
442 Elisha Green, b. Jan. 19, 1793; d. 1855.
445 Martha, b. Sep. 8, 1795; d. ——.
Henry Noble; d. 1882; m. (1) Sarah Flint; (2) Mrs. Gilbert Smith. He was engaged in the dry goods business in Rochester for eighteen years, then sold out and began fruit growing with great success on a farm four miles north of the city. No issue.
Stillman Samuel; d. of tuberculosis July 30, 1823 in 22nd year of his age (inscription on monument at Ballston Spa). Said to have been an able and a rather brilliant young man. Employed in Auburn and Syracuse, N. Y.
Silvia; d. Jan. 20, 1806, aged 4 months and 19 days (inscription at Ballston).
446 Adeline, b. about 1810; d. Apr. 5, 1856.
447 Amanda Malvina, b. Apr. 17, 1811, at Ballston Spa; d. Feb. 14, 1898.
448 George Washington, b. June 14, 1816, at Ballston Spa; d. Oct. 10, 1893, at Worthington, Ind.

429 Lyman Barker Langworthy[6] (Elisha Perkins[5], Joseph[4,3], Robert[2]). Born Oct. 21, 1787, at New Lebanon, Columbia Co., N. Y.; d. March 26, 1880, Rochester, N. Y.; m. Sep. 21, 1811, at Quebec, Canada, Ann McNeil (b. March 17, 1788, d. May 17, 1862, at Rochester).

Lyman Barker Langworthy and Granddaughter
Belle Temple (429)

He was brought up to his father's trade. After working at various places he started in business for himself in a shop in Quebec, Canada, and here he met his future wife. At the outbreak of the War of 1812 the authorities gave Americans 24 hours to leave the district, and 4 days to leave Canada or swear allegiance to the king. He turned the key in the door of his store taking, to use his words, "such articles of jewelry, watches and small articles as could be packed in our trunks and sewed in my wife's underclothes." Among the few things saved was a masonic seal and a watch fob of the style worn in those days, now in the possession of his great grandson, Wm. F. Temple of Lakewood, Ohio.

He returned to Ballston Spa and engaged in the hardware business, and was soon elected sheriff of Saratoga County. In 1825 he moved to the village of Rochester, N. Y., where he entered the foundry and hardware business, and was for a time superintendent of the Tonawanda railroad. For a few years he engaged in farming in the town of Greece, Monroe County, returning to Rochester after the death of his wife in 1862. He was a prominent Mason, trustee of the Rochester Savings Bank, trustee and deacon of the First Baptist Church, associate editor of the Rural New Yorker and prominent in many other ways. He saw Rochester develop from a small village to a prosperous city, for his life was spared until March 26, 1880. He is well known in the Langworthy family because of a record he began preparing in 1849, continuing at different times until 1860. It is entitled "Memorandum and Reminiscences. Personal Sketches and Memoirs of the Family Langworthy." This record throws much light on the early history of Rochester and has been copied and rather widely distributed among Langworthys. His information about the earlier generations of the family is faulty, and incorrect in some particulars, but very helpful on details about those more closely related to him. He arranged an elaborate family tree. The original is in the possession of Miss Eleanor F. Temple, a great granddaughter, of Muskegon, Mich., and is said to be beautifully executed in colors. We reproduce it from a blue print which came from Mrs. George R. West of Los Angeles, Cal.

10 children, all born in Ballston Spa, N. Y.:

Emily, b. Apr. 26, 1813; d. Feb., 1880; m. Sep., 1834, Judge Patrick G. Buchan. Children: Lyman B., Anna McNeil, Lillian Margaret, Frances Mariette and Emma Stewart. Only the last had children; she married J. H. Brooks and had Lee and Emma. Emily's father and sister, Ann, lived with the Buchans during their last days.

James McNeil, b. Aug. 9, 1814; d. Aug. 21, 1838; m. Frances S. Allcott (b. 1816, d. Aug. 18, 1838). He was a man of great promise and it is said that he had the largest attendance at his funeral ever seen in Rochester.

430 Andrew Jackson, b. Feb. 4, 1818; d. Feb. 18, 1900.

Ann, b. July 2, 1817; d. after 1863; m. March, 1843, Dr. Ambros Crane (b. July 1, 1814, Cranetown, N. J., d. Aug. 17, 1855, at Marysville, Cal.). He practiced medicine in Dubuque, Iowa, but moved to California in 1844.

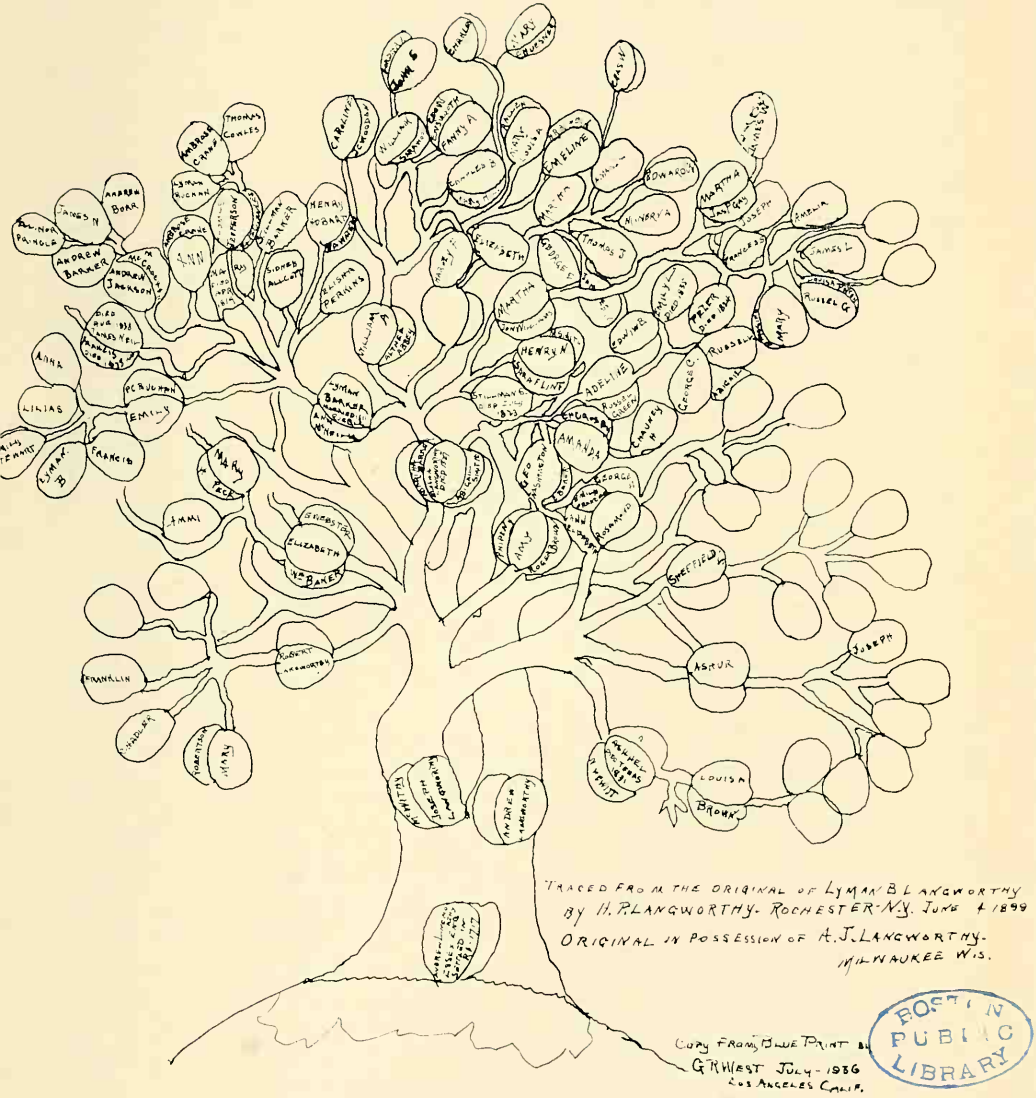
Henry Hobart, b. Oct. 7, 1826; d. ——; m. June, 1849, Elizabeth A. Waters (d. Dec. 31, 1856). He received the degree of M. D. from Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., in 1848 and practiced medicine in Rochester.

Elisha Perkins, b. Nov. 16, 1828; d. March 9, 1862, at San Antonio, Texas; m. 1860, Josephine Milby of Indianola, Texas. Had two sons who died in infancy. He graduated from Hobart College, medicine, in 1849. Was appointed Asst. Surgeon in U. S. Army May 16, 1850. Resigned Apr. 30, 1861 and entered the Confederate Army as Surgeon.

430 Andrew Jackson Langworthy[7] (Lyman Barker[6], Elisha Perkins[5], Joseph[4,3], Robert[2]). Born Feb. 4, 1816, at Ballston Spa; d. Feb. 18, 1900, at Muskegon, Mich.; m. Sep. 19, 1837, Mariette McCracken (b. 1815, at Batavia, N. Y., d. May 2, 1897, at Muskegon, Mich.). He learned the moulder's trade before moving to Milwaukee, Wis., in 1842. There he established a foundry and machine shop business which he conducted till the outbreak of the War of the Rebellion. He raised Company



Lyman Barker Langworthy's Tree (429)

K, 2nd Regiment of Wisconsin Volunteers, and became its captain. He was wounded at the first battle of Bull Run, receiving injuries from which he never fully recovered. When able to return to service he had command of Forts Case and Ellsworth in Virginia. He found his business ruined at the close of the war and engaged in various kind of activities thereafter.

477 Asahel Langworthy[5] (Joseph[4, 3], Robert[2]). Died about 1832 in Texas of "Texas fever." He was a graduate of the University of Vermont and afterwards studied law with Van Ness who was at one time minister to Spain. He settled in St. Albans, Vt., and married. Had a daughter, Elouise R., who married Charles Brown in 1827, and died about 1892. After the death of his first wife Asahel married Elizabeth Herritt (d. 1856) by whom he had no children.

After the War of 1812 he began to purchase soldiers' land warrants. Removed to New York City and took a large contract for filling in some low land. Afterwards he began procuring grants of land in Texas from the Mexican government and became the principal agent of the Austin Grant. In 1832 he led a colony of 100 settlers to a place called Nashville, Texas, but he and 60 of the company died of fever. His widow was left penniless until she was established in the millinery and fancy goods business in Burlington, Vt. She brought up an adopted son named Henry Langworthy. Neither his widow nor his daughter could establish their claim to the estate in Texas which was said to cover the site of the modern city of Galveston.

The Brown's had eight children of whom three sons and one daughter were alive in 1886. They were Asahel Lee, home in Platteville, Wis., Charles Owen in Tucson, Arizona, Josie in the same city and Chester F., the youngest son, with wife and daughter, Carrie, with the mother in Santa Barbara, Cal.

478 ANDREW LANGWORTHY[4] (Joseph[3], Robert[2]). Born Jan. 7, 1741/2, Stonington, Conn.; d. May 8, 1808, Pittsfield, Mass.; m. Ruth Brown (b. June 5, 1743, Plainfield, Mass., d. Jan. 18, 1825, Utica, N. Y.). The facts about this family have been very hard to trace. Aug. 25, 1762, the selectmen of Plainfield, Conn., issued a warrant ordering Andrew Langworthy, "A Trantshent person with his family to depart this town and warning Joseph Langworthy not to entertain him." Eleazar Cady, Constable, certified he had read the warrant in the hearing of Andrew Langworthy and Amos Stafford had been warned not to harbor him. However, he established himself in the community and on Oct. 2, 1767, Sarah Brown conveyed to Andrew Langworthy "Late of Stonington, now resident in S^{d} Plainfield" a tract of land in Plainfield.

As to his family we find the record of birth of three in Plainfield. We suppose these to be the first born. The birth of three is recorded in Pittsfield, Mass. We think these are the youngest. The others were probably born at some place where he lived in the time between his residence in Plainfield and Pittsfield. It has been suggested that he lived in Litchfield Co., Conn. Future researches may reveal the order of birth of his children and other facts. The best we can do now is as follows.

11 children:

Andrew, b. June 21, 1765.
Evengelles, b. May 15, 1767.
Willard, b. Apr. 16, 1769. Paid poll tax in Pittsfield in 1795.
Ruth.
John.
Damaris.
Simon; d. May 13, 1813, aged 40 years, Pittsfield, Mass.; m. (1) Dec., 1801, Lura Robbins (b. July 28, 1782, d. June 13, 1802); (2) Elizabeth ——. By the second wife he had Lura, b. Oct. 17, 1803. He was probably a mason and farmer to judge from the inventory of his estate. He left widow 'Betsy' and no other heirs.

479 Anna Wells, b. May 8, 1781; d. 1822.
Sarah Wells, b. Dec. 16, 1784; m. July 31, 1806, Abner Jackson.
William Williams, b. Jan. 27, 1788; d. Aug. 15, 1804, Lenox, Mass.
Ruey; d. y.

In November, 1789, Pittsfield voted to build a church for the Congregationalists (or Presbyterians) and levied taxes on all inhabitants to meet the expense. In August, 1790, Andrew and Willard who were Baptists, were among those who objected to paying taxes for that purpose.

The Census of 1790 states that Andrew Langworthy's family contained two males 16 & more years old and six females.

In 1795, Andrew, Willard and Simon paid taxes in Pittsfield.

March 15, 1800, Andrew of Lenox sold land and Ruth signed the deed with a cross.

The church record, Oct., 1792, states that during the past year three children of Mr. Langworthy have died. Town record gives 1791 for this.

479 Anna Wells Langworthy[5] (Andrew[4], Joseph[3], Robert[2]). Born May 8, 1781; d. 1822; m. 1802, Demos Robbins (b. Jan. 6, 1781, d. March, 1811, aged about 30, Utica, N. Y.).

3 children (Robbins):

Charlotte; d. at age of four weeks.
480 Benjamin Franklin, b. Jan. 17, 1806; d. Feb. 3, 1887.
Jane Ann, b. May 17, 1808, Utica, N. Y.; d. March 28, 1893, Shortsville, N. Y.; m. (1) Aug. 28, 1825, Seth G. Parker (d. about 1836); (2) Stephen Furner. By the first husband she had four children: (1) Benjamin, who died in 1840, aged 10 years; (2) James, who died in a hospital in the War of the Rebellion, aged 32 years and two daughters; (3) Mrs. D. V. Benham of Canandaigua, N. Y.; and (4) Mrs. J. H. Latting of Shortsville, N. Y. She spent her last days with Mrs. Latting.

480 Benjamin Franklin Robbins[6] (Anna Wells[5], Andrew[4], Joseph[3], Robert[2]). Born Jan. 17, 1806, Dunkirk, N. Y.; d. Feb. 3, 1887, Owosso, Mich.; m. Mary Ann Rideout (b. 1809, d. Feb. 3, 1872). He acted as supply for the Seventh Day Baptist Church at Friendship (Nile), N. Y. Later became the regular pastor and was a delegate to the association. After one or two years he became interested in Adventist doctrines and the church withdrew the hand of fellowship from his wife in 1859 and in 1860 a church meeting discharged him because he was a Seventh Day Adventist and it had been found out that he and his wife both possessed robes and he had actually been seen wearing the robe. He had been a cabinet maker before he became prominent in the church. In 1861 he settled in Owosso, Mich., and established a chair factory. He was connected with the "underground railroad" which assisted runaway slaves to Canada and had correspondence with Horace Greeley.

2 children:

Jared, b. 1833; d. Oct. 2, 1889, Lake City, Mich.; m. 1863, Hattie Higgins (b. June 10, 1841, Toledo, O., d. Apr. 24, 1916, Markey, Mich. After the death of Jared Robbins she married James Meredith). She had five children by Robbins.

Joseph Herman, b. Feb. 13, 1844, Friendship, N. Y.; d. May 2, 1894, Owosso, Mich.; m. Nov. 17, 1865, Horicon, Wis., Emma Ann Jones (b. May 12, 1849, Troy, N. Y., d. March 7, 1921, Owosso). They had five children. He conducted the furniture business after his father's death and his sons now own it.

HISTORY OF THE DESCENDANTS OF JAMES LANGWORTHY

481 James Langworthy[2]. Born 1680; d. 1720; m. April 10, Mary Remington, daughter of Stephen and Penelope Remington, at Jamestown, R. I. She was born Sep. 20, 1686; d. after 1741. They were married by John Weeden, warden of the church. The record of their marriage is found in the Vital Records of Rhode Island, Vol. IV. The date of James' birth is fixed by a "deposition of Rachel Langworthy, age about 56 years, and James Langworthy, age about 18 years, saith that in Apr. or May, 1697, Isaac Martindale of Newport was at Robert Hassard's house in Kingstown, etc." (Substance of affidavit is all about Hassard). The age of Rachel as given agrees with that of Rachel, the wife of Andrew[1]. The deposition is not dated but is found in Colonial Land Evidence, Book 2, next to a deed dated Apr. 23, 1698. The date of James' death is approximately learned from the inventory of his estate which is given below:

The following entry is found in the Westerly Council Records, Probate Records, Lands, 1699 to 1719. No. 1, Page 174:

"february ye 14th 1715/16
Then received of the wider willcocks in full for ten pound of power Eight shillings I say by me.
James Langworthy"

That his home was in Newport we know from records of the Town Council of Newport, July 5th, 1714, when William Ashton "declared upon oath that he was at the house of James Langworthy when Sarah Jackson deceased," etc.

James Langworthy's Bible has been found and given to the Misses Wilbour of Newport, who placed it in the keeping of the Newport Historical Society. Your genealogist has seen the volume and read its records.

7 children of James Langworthy:

Abigail, b. Sep. 20, 1707; m. Apr. 16, 1732, John Whitehouse, Trinity Church, Newport. She as an adult had been baptized there Aug. 9, 1730. Dec. 1, 1766, an inventory of the estate of John Whitehouse, deceased, was presented to the Town Council by Samuel Bown and Andrew Langworthy.

Mary, b. Feb. 27, 1709; m. Aug. 15, 1742, David Pierce, Trinity Church.

482 James, b. Apr. 11, 1711; d. July 25, 1759.

Andrew, b. Feb. 14, 1713; m. July 23, 1741, Elizabeth Heal, Trinity Church, Newport. A scrap of his will has been found but no date. In this mention is made of "honored mother, Mary Langworthy & brother, Jonathan Langworthy. Wife Elizabeth is executrix. No clue to date. His monument in the old Newport Cemetery bears this inscription, "In memory of Capt. Andrew Langworthy who departed this life April 17, 1776 in the 64th year of his age." The records of Trinity Church show that Andrew Langworthy, an adult, was baptized Sept. 21, 1750. In 1753 he was a member of the Fellowship Club, now known as the Marine Society of Newport. "Members shall consist of such persons only who now are or have been commanders of vessels."

Stephen, b. Aug. 6, 1715.

Jonathan, b. Dec. 9, 1717. The Newport Mercury of Apr. 15, 1800, reports the death of Jonathan Langworthy, aged 83. The Annals of Trinity Church by George C. Mason give date of his death as Apr. 15th.

He is naturally supposed to have been a member of that church.
Benjamin, b. Sep. 15, 1720.

482 James Langworthy[3] (James[2]). Born April 27, 1711, at Newport, R. I.; m. Sarah Smith who was born Oct. 4, 1714, at North Kingstown, R. I. We learned name of wife from quit claim deed on record at the town hall in Wakefield, R. I. She was the daughter of Ephraim and Margaret Smith. He died of smallpox at Cape May, July 25, 1759, and was buried from the home of James Elding. This record comes from a very old book which was owned by Miss Hannah Lyon Wilbour, a descendant of James' daughter Hannah who married William Lyon. An old record says, "James Langworthy and his wife Sarah are baptized May 14, 1741 and are joined to the church of the Lord Jesus, which I hope will be to the good of each other with Control." Though he lived the most of his life in Newport the Newport Town Council on Oct. 1, 1853, ordered that a certificate be given him to live with his family in Portsmouth. After his decease on Nov. 1st, 1762, the Town Council directed the clerk to give Sarah Langworthy a certificate to live in South Kingstown.

Dr. Augustus Langworthy, a grandson, stated that his grandfather "lived in a cottage or farmhouse built after the model of the old English, with a long capacious kitchen with bedrooms attached on the same floor and a front hall. The following incidents may indicate some of the distinctive characteristics: It was an invariable rule with him to have placed every night four large buckets full of water in the entry. One night when the family were all rapt in sleep he was awakened by a suffocating smoke coming through cracks of the door that opened into the kitchen; he ascertained that the interior of the kitchen was in flames and filled with dense smoke; he aroused his family, threw the beds out of a window and the children upon them, then made his way through the long kitchen to the front entry, and, with the four buckets of water there placed, extinguished the flames and saved his house." At his death his wife was left with comfortable means for the support of herself and family but said Augustus Langworthy "all was destroyed and plundered by the British Regulars when the Island was occupied by them; the family being jealous Whigs, no mercy was extended to them."

9 children:

Stephen, b. Oct. 20, 1735; "a scrap of the inventory of Stephen Langworthy, dec., of Newport, cooper, Nov. 2, 1761. Taken by Joseph Fox and Geo. Weeden; shown by Sarah Langworthy. Administration granted to Sarah Langworthy, his mother."

James, b. June 3, 1738; d. July, 1738.

483 Abigail, b. May 11, 1740; m. July 3, 1760, Samuel Weeden.

Mary, b. Apr. 1, 1742.

Elizabeth, b. Feb., 1745; m. Dec. 20, 1764, Zephaniah Heath.

Margaret, b. 1747; m. Nov. 20, 1771, James Dawley.

Hannah, b. Aug. 2, 1749; m. Sep. 20, 1771, William Lyon. Their daughter, Sarah, married Aaron Fisher Dyre (other daughter, Mary Ann, married Cornelius B. Wilbour who were the parents of the Misses Hannah L. and Mary Wilbour of Newport who assisted much with the collection of materials for the family history. There may have been others in these families.) Died Oct. 18, 1814.

484 James, b. July 2, 1752; d. June 15, 1800.

Jonathan, b. Nov. 19, 1755; In "American Prisoners at Forton Prison Eng. 1777–1779" by W. R. Cutter and N. E. G. & A. R., Vol. 33, Page 38, we find that the Briggenteen Angelica, out of Boston, of 16 guns was taken the 30th day May, 1778, by the Andromeda of 28 guns. Among the prisoners committed Forton Prison the 7th day of July, 1778, was Jon'n Langworthy.

483 Abigail Langworthy[4] (James[3], James[2]). Born May 11, 1740; d. before Nov. 1792; m. July 3, 1760, Samuel Weeden (b. Oct. 11, 1738, at Newport, R. I., d. Nov. 15, 1813, in Providence, R. I.). He married (2) Nov. 1, 1792, Abigail Price. He was a cooper and gauger. The Providence Gazette in noticing his death states that he was a gauger at the Custom House from the time Rhode Island came into the Union until his death. Administration of his estate was taken by his widow Abigail and grandson, Samuel Weeden Coates. The account showed a house on Planet St. renting for $40.00 per year.

6 children, apparently all by the first wife:

James Weeden, b. Oct. 30, 1760; d. March, 1810, at Providence; m. July, 1794, Margaret Dawley at Exeter, R. I. Administration on his estate was taken by his father at request of the widow. A son: George Washington Weeden, left descendants.

Abigail, b. 1762; m. May 8, 1785, Nathaniel Bailey.
Mary, b. 1765.
Hannah, b. 1768; m. Oct. 12, 1790, Captain Daniel Coates.
Thomas; d. young. Was baptized into the membership of the Second Baptist Church of Newport July 21, 1772.
William; d. 1829, in Providence, R. I., leaving a son, William, for whom James O. Barney was guardian.
The wife, Abigail, and following children were baptized into the second Baptist Church, Aug. 25, 1785: James, Abigail, Mary and Hannah.

484 James Langworthy[4] (James[3], James[2]). The Newport Town Council on July 7, 1766, ordered the clerk to "bind James Langworthy, son of James Langworthy, dec., to Benjamin Greene, Taylor." One Apr. 3, 1769 the Council ordered that James Langworthy who was bound to Benj. Greene, deceased, be bound to Thomas Greene "in ye same manner as before only he to give him a new suit of Freedom Clothes." After a time he procured the revocation of his indentures and worked at his trade a part of the time but gave more of his life to seafaring, fishing in the Gulf of St. Lawrence in the summer season and making voyages to Philadelphia and the West Indies in the winter. He gave this up at the beginning of the Revolutionary War.

He was born on Sunday morning, July 3, 1752, at Newport, R. I. Married Thursday evening Apr. 15, 1775, at Smithfield, R. I., Anna Dean who was born at Plainfield, Conn., May 6th, 1752. She was the daughter of Phineas and Abigail (Clark) Dean. They moved to Windsor, Vermont, Feb. 5, 1776. She survived her husband for many years and spent the last with her daughter, Anna, who lived at Potsdam, N. Y., where she died in 1839.

His son, Dr. Augustus Langworthy, related that during his life at sea "by his studious habits he acquired a good knowledge of navigation and nautical science, though he had previously no scholastic education except what he acquired by firelight during the hours devoted to sleep; but he became a good scholar in mathematics and had an extensive knowledge of geography, astronomy, history etc.; he was always a republican in feeling and sentiment and well posted in the politics of his time. Often, very often, have I heard him mourn the blot of slavery on our national escutcheon, and indulge in fearful forebodings of its pernicious influence in the future upon the policy and politics of the nation.

"He never succeeded in accumulating much of worldly wealth until near the close of life when he had acquired and improved a good farm of two hundred acres and enjoyed for a brief period a comfortable competence."

James Langworthy was a Revolutionary soldier in Captain Savage's Company of Militia, Colonel Woods. Marched in scouts and alarms in 1781. On one military expedition to Crown Point or Ticonderoga he barely escaped death from starvation and cold. His uncle on his mother's side, —— Simester, was frozen to death in crossing the Green Mountains on this trip.

14 children, all born in Windsor, Vt.:

Sarah, b. Oct. 9, 1876; m. Emanuel Hawley and had three children of whom two died in childhood. The surviving one married —— Meacham and lived in St. Lawrence, N. Y. Sarah died in her mother's home a short time after her husband's death in 1801.

485 Stephen, b. Nov. 4, 1777; d. July 27, 1848.

James, Jr., b. Apr. 20, 1779; m. —— Meacham. Was a merchant in Portland, or Belfast, Maine.

509 Anna, b. Oct. 3, 1780; m. Samuel Simmonds and lived in Potsdam, N. Y.

Phineas, b. Feb. 7, 1782; lived to be very old; m. Phebe Aulkut; had a daughter named Caroline who married May 11, 1840, in Dodge County, Minn., Warren J. Mills. Phineas was a teacher and lecturer. Traveled in the East Indies. Descendants named Thacker in Minnesota and Iowa.

Jonathan, b. Oct. 5, 1783; d. June 15, 1800, of typhoid fever, within one hour of the time the father passed away of the same disease.

Hannah, b. Nov. 10, 1784.

Laura, b. Jan. 9, 1786; d. 1838; m. Lemuel Davenport and lived in Hanover, N. H.

Reodolphus, b. July 12, 1787; drowned in the Mississippi River a few miles above St. Louis about 1820. In 1812 with his brothers, Augustus and Cyrus he swung his pack on his back and sought his fortune in the West. They stopped for a time in Ohio, but in 1817 Reodolphus settled in Alton, Ill. He married on March 1, 1817, Lucy Meacham, in Edwardsville, Ill. He was a Justice of the Peace.

510 Augustus, b. Nov. 9, 1788; d. March 20, 1866.
513 Benjamin, b. Jan. 27, 1790; d. 1864.
518 Cyrus, b. Nov. 13, 1791; d. Jan. 16, 1874.
531 Anson, b. Dec. 7, 1794; d. ——.
542 Franklin, b. Jan. 16, 1798; d. before 1859.

A few years after the death of the father the family began to scatter. Dr. Stephen settled in Hopkinton (now Lawrence, N. Y.) in 1806 and most of them soon joined him. Franklin Langworthy says in 1811 all of the family were in Hopkinton except James, Phineas and Laura. They were typical restless pioneers.

485 Stephen Langworthy[5] (James[4], [3], [2]). Born in Windsor, Vt., Nov. 4, 1777; d. Dubuque, Iowa, July 27, 1848; m. (1) Nov. 10, 1798, at Windsor, Betsey Massey, daughter of Jonathan and Betsey (Woodbury) Massey, of Salem, N. H. (b. Feb. 20, 1781, d. Sep. 16, 1820, at Edwardsville, Ill.); (2) June 23, 1823, at St. Charles, Mo., Jane Moreing (b. Aug. 4, 1827, near Charleston, S. C., d. 1913, at Dubuque, Iowa).

21 children, twelve by the first wife and nine by the second, the first three born at Windsor, Vt., and the next six at Hopkinton, N. Y.:

486 James Lyon b. Jan. 20, 1800; d. March 14, 1865.
Stephen, b. July 25, 1801; d. Apr. 5, 1820, in Edwardsville, Ill.
Eliza, b. Sep., 1803; m. William McClay and had one son, Barton.
487 Laura, b. Apr. 1, 1805, Hopkinton, N. Y.; d. Jan. 9, 1847.
493 Lucius Hart, b. Feb. 6, 1807; d. June 9, 1865.
498 Edward, b. Aug. 31, 1808; d. Jan. 4, 1893.
500 Mary Ann, b. Dec. 17, 1809; d. June 12, 1881.
501 Sarah Maria, b. Feb. 17, 1811; d. July 25, 1850.
Lucretia, b. Sep. 3, 1812; d. Sep. 18, 1854; m. (1) —— White and had Volney, Lycurgus, Harriet and Sarah; (2) Purdy Williamson and had a daughter, Jeannette.

Stephen Langworthy graduated from a medical college in Connecticut and about 1804 began to practice in Hopkinton (now Lawrence) St. Lawrence Co., N. Y. In the war of 1812 he served as surgeon in the army of the United States. In 1813 he moved to Rutland, N. Y. (near Watertown). Because of unsettled conditions along the Canadian border and the difficulty of supporting so large a family in a region not more thickly settled he next moved to northwestern Pennsylvania where he located on French Creek near Erie. He soon felt the need of a still larger field and so constructed a flat boat floated down French Creek to the Alleghany and on to the Ohio. They spent the next winter at Belpre, below Marietta. In the spring of 1819 they continued down the Ohio to Shawneetown where the flat boat was sold and horses and wagons purchased. With these they drove across Illinois to Edwardsville where their home was made. The family undertook farming and Dr. Langworthy began practicing his profession in St. Louis, Mo., which was but a few miles away. This location proved unhealthy. Mrs. Langworthy and their son, Stephen, passed away of malaria and so a new home had to be sought. They found this at Diamond Grove, near Jacksonville, Ill. Here they purchased a farm having several acres of land which had been cultivated by the Kickapoo Indians and so was easy to work. It proved productive and furnished good support. In a short time the older sons began to leave home and so the farm was sold and the family moved to St Charles, Mo., in 1831. His last days were spent in Dubuque, Iowa, where several of the sons had located and won success.

Dr. Langworthy was filled with the pioneer spirit of the early days. Most of his brothers and sons partook of the same urge. They were typical of the men who peopled and developed the middle west.

486 James Lyon Langworthy[6] (Stephen[5], James[4], [3], [2]). Born Jan. 20, 1800, in Windsor, Vt.; d. March 14, 1865, at Monticello, Iowa; m. March 16, 1840, at Galena, Ill., Agnes Milne (b. March 2, 1815, at Edinburgh, Scotland, d. June 14, 1901).

5 children:

James Douglas, b. Feb. 11, 1841; date of death unknown; m. Feb. 8, 1873, Alice Smith. Two children: (1) James Lyon, b. June 21, 1873, at Dubuque, m. Elfa Louise Mendel and had four children: Eldabel, b. 1901, Josephine, b. 1902, died in infancy, James Robert, b. 1904, and David Mendel, b. 1905; and (2) Esibel Alice, d. in 1921 in New York City, m. Harry R. Cowan and had one child, Robert Service, b. Nome City, Alaska.

Aleen Milne, b. May 9, 1844; d. Jan. 21, 1919; m. 1865, Frederick Isaiah Massey (b. May 31, 1842, in Lockport, N. Y., d. March 17, 1908). No children.

Mary Augusta, b. Dec. 23, 1846; d. March 30, 1930. Unm.

Herbert Lyon, b. Nov. 27, 1848; d. March 2, 1851.

Clara Agnes, b. July 13, 1853; d. Dec. 19, 1884; m. Lindley Irving Harris (b. Apr. 9, 1851, in Galena, Ill., d. Nov. 1, 1916, in Chicago). One son: Lindley Massey, m. Hanorah Marie O'Halloran (b. March 19, 1884) and had Milne Charles, b. Aug. 12, 1906.

James Lyon remained with his father's family until it was comfortably settled at Edwardsville, Ill. Soon after he found employment in a saw mill at St. Louis, Mo. Attracted by rumors of the rich mineral country to the north he started in Sep., 1823, for the Galena, Ill., lead mines. Here he engaged in mining and also conducted stores at Buncombe and Galena. His relations with the Indians were so friendly that they allowed him, under the guidance of two of their number, to cross the Mississippi and thoroughly explore the country between the Maquoketa and Turkey Rivers. This was probably in 1829. This influence also led the government to employ him to visit the different bands of Winnebago, Sac and Fox Indians to induce them to cede their lands and move farther West. He was accompanied by General Henry Dodge. By the resulting treaty the government obtained all of Northwest Illinois and Southwest Wisconsin.

In June, 1830, James L., his brother Lucius H. and some others crossed the Mississippi and commenced mining with the permission of the Indians. The first act resembling civil legislation within the limits of Iowa was adopted by the miners at this time. James Langworthy appears to have been the chairman of the committee and the following document in his handwriting was written on a piece of unruled brown paper. This is still in existence and has been printed in the History of Dubuque County, page 829.

Dubuque Mines, June 17, 1830

We, a committee, having been chosen to draft certain rules and regulations, by which, as miners, will be governed; and, having duly considered the subject, do unanimously agree that we will be governed by the regulations on the east side of the Mississippi River, with the following exceptions, to wit:

Article I. — That each and every man shall hold two hundred yards square of ground by working said ground one day in six.

Article II. — We further agree, that there shall be chosen by the majority of the miners present, a person who shall hold this article, and who shall grant letters of arbitration, on application being made, and that said letter arbitration shall be obligatory on the parties concerned so applying.

To the above, we the undersigned subscribe.

The brothers chose what was afterwards known as Langworthy Hollow for their claim and in a few months had obtained 300,000 pounds of lead. Since the Indian treaty had not been confirmed, the government gave orders to drive the miners from the west side of the Mississippi. The Langworthys removed to an island near the West side of the river and spent the winter in a tent near their piles of lead. The next year came the Black Hawk War which culminated in 1832 in the battle of Bad Axe in which Black Hawk was captured. James Langworthy had served as a scout under General Dodge and participated in the final battle. After which he conducted Black Hawk to Rock Island to arrange a new treaty.

In June, 1833, all eastern Iowa was thrown open to settlement and the Langworthys again took possession of their claim. In 1836 he built the second brick house in Dubuque which was regarded as a palatial residence. After a time James and Lucius were joined by two other brothers, Edward and Solon, and the four formed a partnership which lasted until 1862 when all retired. The firms of which James was the head were the wealthiest in Iowa. At one time J. L. Langworthy and Brothers paid one-twelfth of the taxes of Dubuque. They had engaged in mining, mercantile banking, railroading and real estate. It is said that James L. Langworthy explored more mineral lands and probably raised more mineral than any other man in the lead mines of the Northwest.

487 Laura Langworthy[6] (Stephen[5], James[4], [3], [2]). Born Apr. 1, 1805, Hopkinton, N. Y.; d. Jan. 7, 1848; m. (1) 1821 or 1822, Jacob D. Williams. He died of cholera and then she m. (2) about 1836 John Overstreet (d. Aug. 5, 1876). Our information says there were eleven children in her family but we can't be sure of the names of all of them or the order of birth. We feel reasonably certain about five of the Williams and three of the Overstreets. All appear to have been born in St. Charles, Mo.

8 children:

Lucius Hart Langworthy attended the schools in the log cabins of his time and assisted in summer in the father's farming operations. In 1825 he attended the first term of the academy founded by Doctor Beecher at Jacksonville, Ill., but was soon engaged to teach at Bluffdale. Two years later on hearing about the great discovery of lead in the upper Mississippi and the success of his brother, James, with his brother, Edward and his sisters, Mary Ann, and Sarah Maria, he set out to try his fortune there. They had good luck in striking a large lead, since called the Drummond lode on Coon Branch. The Winnebago War interrupted their operations. He entered the military service but saw little fighting. They carried on extensive mining at Mineral Point, New Diggings and Platteville and met good success. In 1830, Lucius heard the Indians had vacated the Dubuque lead mines and began to explore them. He soon struck the old Langworthy lead which later produced ten million pounds of lead ore. He and his brother James began mining but General Zackary Taylor sent Lieutenant Jefferson Davis to drive the miners from the region. Soon the Black Hawk War was begun. Lucius enlisted as a lieutenant of scouts under Captain James Gentry who served under General Dodge. After the defeat of Black Hawk at Bad Axe, the Langworthys returned to their claim in the Dubuque mines and had soon dug a large quantity of metal when the authorities drove them from the country since the treaty had not been ratified. They transferred their lead ore to an island in the river and spent the winter guarding their treasure. In 1833 the country was thrown open and the miners crowded in. The Langworthys had good success and made large profits. When Dubuque County was organized Lucius was elected Sheriff. Later he was chosen member of the legislature. With two brothers-in-law he owned a steamboat, the Heroine, for business on the river. He wrote many articles for different periodicals advocating particularly a railroad to the Pacific and urged Congress to make grants of land to forward such an undertaking. He was one of two delegates to Congress to secure the adoption of the plan.

With his brother James under contract with the government, he constructed the military road from Dubuque to Iowa City. He was a director of the Miners' Bank, the Dubuque and Sioux City Railroad and President of the Dubuque Western Railroad. He was a member of J. L. Langworthy and Brothers.

He had much literary ability. His lectures on the history and settlement of Dubuque were printed in the Iowa Journal of History and Politics.

The name Iowa is said to have originated with him.

In 1827 after the family of his father was well established at their home near Jacksonville, Ill., Edward Langworthy joined his older brother, Lucius and his sisters, Mary Ann and Sarah Maria, in trying to improve his condition in the lead mines of the upper Mississippi valley. An older brother, James, had preceded them in 1823. The journey was long and tedious but at last they reached Buncombe, Ill., where James conducted a store as well as engaged in mining. Edward met with some success but the outbreak of the Winnebago War interrupted operations. He served in the war. Provisions became scarce and so Edward left for a time to secure supplies. Black Hawk War occurred and most of the miners joined the government forces. Edward enlisted in the company of Captain Greig under Colonel Stephenson. After Black Hawk was captured he returned to mining and business with his brothers, James and Lucius. They purchased much land and began farming. They bought and ran a steam boat. They struck very rich deposits of lead. They were generally successful and became influential and wealthy. Edward was a member of the territorial legislature in 1839 and 1841 and of the Constitutional Convention of 1844.

When his father sold the farm near Jacksonville and moved the family to St. Charles, Mo., in 1832, Solon Massey was free to seek employment elsewhere. He began work for Major Farnesworth at Dardenne and showed real mechanical genius by contriving a horse hay rake with which he raked fifty acres of hay. In July of that year he enlisted for one year in the United States Mounted Rangers under Captain Nathan Boone. Furnishing his own horse he received one dollar a day for his services. His company was ordered to Rock Island, Ill., but when the defeat of Black Hawk was reported it was ordered to report to Colonel Arbuckle at Little Rock, Arkansas, and went into winter quarters at Fort Gibson. During the winter they were sent west to protect the Santa Fe traders. Returning in July they were paid and discharged in August.

Solon Massey Langworthy (503)

In the spring of 1834 he joined his brothers, James, Lucius and Edward at Dubuque and was hired to draw rails, build fence and break more than forty acres of bottom land where the city of Dubuque now stands. This is believed to be the first large tract to be plowed in the State of Iowa. When fall came he engaged in mining with much success but soon invested his savings in the steamboat, Brazil, to make the trip between Dubuque and Cincinnati but after a few journeys it struck a rock in the upper rapids and sunk, almost a total loss.

In 1838 he formed a partnership with his cousin, H. L. Massey, to furnish supplies for the miners with headquarters at Potosi, Wis. At the outbreak of the Civil War he became 1st Lieutenant and Quartermaster of the 27th Regiment of Iowa Volunteers, serving from 1862 till March, 1864. He was taken prisoner at the sacking of Holly Springs by Gen. Van Dorn in Dec., 1862 but was soon exchanged. His industrial pursuits embraced farming, merchandising, mining, banking and dealing in real estate and lumber.

Solon Massey had eight children:

Forest, b. 1841; d. in inf.

504 Frances Forrest, b. Oct. 21, 1843; d. Nov. 10, 1916.

of the University of Iowa. He served his interneship at the Home for Destitute and Crippled Children in Chicago. Went over seas in May, 1917, where he was assigned to the Old Mill Hospital in Aberdeen, Scotland. In the fall he joined the Second Division in France as a lieutenant. In the spring of 1918 he was placed in charge of the orthopedic service in Base Hospital 23 with the rank of Captain. He was discharged in the fall of 1919 and began the practice of medicine in Spokane, Wash., in December of that year. He was the chief surgeon of the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children. He invented many surgical machines, which are in general use throughout the country. He was particularly interested in orthopedic work. He was shot by a crazy man in his office. He had one daughter, Helen. In his later years he was known as Dr. Mitchell Langworthy; (2) Lois, buried in Linwood Cemetery, Dubuque, Aug. 12, 1916, aged 24 years; (3) Ruth, d. 510 Augustus Langworthy[5] (James[4], [3], [2]). Born Nov. 29, 1788; d. March 20, 1866, in Arispie Township, Bureau Co., Ill.; m. (1) Sep. 21, 1818, Adah Meacham at Edwardsville, Ill. (d. July 19, 1836); (2) May 18, 1837, Adelia Elizabeth Perkins (b. March 28, 1819, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., d. Jan. 9, 1902, in Decatur, Ill.) at Hennepin, Ill., by Rev. Headley. After the death of Dr. Augustus Langworthy she in 1882 married William C. Drake of Princeton, Ill. (d. 1884 or 1885).

With his brothers, Reodolphus and Cyrus, Augustus sought his fortune in the West, working in brickyards in Cincinnati, Ohio, making several trips to New Orleans. Later he studied medicine in Virginia and about 1817 made his home in Upper Alton, Ill., where he was the first postmaster. He was the foreman of the grand jury in Madison Co., in 1824. That year also marks the date when he began the practice of medicine in Fort Clark (Peoria), Ill., where he was the first physician. He served as surgeon for the Peoria volunteers in the Black Hawk War according to Zenck's History of Medical Practice in Illinois. Later he moved to Bureau Junction (near Princeton) and made that his permanent home. He became a large landowner and because of the difficulty of practicing his profession in a sparsely settled country gradually gave that up for farming about 1836.

At the time his first wife died he wrote that he had seven living children. Three had died. There were seven by the second wife. The last were all born at Bureau Junction, Ill.

Cyrus Buch, b. Apr. 8, 1819; d. Oct. 23, ——. (Before July 19, 1836).

538 Albert Daniel Langworthy[7] (Franklin[6], Anson[5], James[4, 3, 2]). Born Nov. 12, 1865; living; m. Nov. 23, 1882, Eugenia Weldin (b. July 20, 1861, Ohio, Ill.).

5 children, the first three born at Ohio:

Roy Frank, b. Oct. 6, 1884; living at Vallejo, Cal.; m. (1) March 28, 1907, Mernice Long and divorced in 1926; m. (2) Apr. 19, 1929, Florence Jagger at Yuma, Arizona. Children by first wife: (1) Virginia, b. Aug. 17, 1909, in Waterloo, Iowa, m. 1930, in Los Angeles, Don S. Johnson, had one son, Duke, b. March 1931; and (2) Robert F., b. Sep. 10, 1913, at Hampton, Iowa.

Milton Charles, b. May 22, 1887; living in Glendale, Cal.; m. Apr. 29, 1915, Olga Liedka of Lynd, Minn. and to them were born, Jan. 22, 1916, twin girls, Lorene Hope and Ardath. Ardath died.

Margaret Mae, b. May 21, 1889; m. Feb. 4, 1909, Herbert E. McChesney (d. 1931). Four children were born to them at Lone Rock, Iowa: Lester M., b. Nov. 22, 1911; Irwin H., b. Sep. 23, 1913; Della Mae, b. Aug. 27, 1916, m. June 29, 1935, Wm. Hapgood (d. Sep. 10, 1935); and Burton R., b. Apr. 19, 1918.

Ersa Eathel, b. Aug. 10, 1894, at Washington, Iowa; m. March 30, 1915, Elmer L. Sharratt (d. Jan. 22, 1923). To them six children have been born: Rolland, b. Feb. 16, 1916; Irene Lucille, b. Apr. 20, 1918; John Albert, b. June 30, 1920; Richard Eugene, b. Aug. 19, 1922; Marion Ava, b. Sep. 30, 1924; and Gladys Elaine, b. Oct. 9, 1926.

Cora Bertha, b. Jan. 15, 1897, at Washington, Iowa; m. Aug. 6, 1914, at Lynd, Minn., Maurice Lawrence Nicholson. Six children: (1) Gerald E., b. Apr. 5, 1915, m. March 3, 1934, Bernice C. M. Furhman and had a son, Donald Gene, b. Sep. 12, 1934; (2) James L., b. Jan. 10, 1917; (3) Dorothy Mae, b. May 14, 1920; (4) Ronald D., b. Jan. 29, 1927; (5) Merlin Joseph, b. June 13, 1931; and (6) Jacky Dean, b. July 30, 1934.

539 Rachel Rebecca Smith[8] (Mary E.[7], Franklin[6], Anson[5], James[4], [3], [2]). Born Dec. 1, 1886; living; m. Aaron M. Smith of Boulder, Colorado.

3 children:

Carol, b. Aug. 22, 1909, at Kasbeer, Ill.; m. May 26, 1926, Albert Pfaff.

Margaret Loraine, b. Aug. 8, 1911, at Kasbeer; m. Aug., 1932, at Timber Lake, So. Dakota, Robert Hick.

Erwin Langworthy, b. March 16, 1915, at Isabel, So. Dakota.

540 Angie M. Langworthy[7] (Franklin[6], Anson[5], James[4], [3], [2]). Born Feb. 19, 1865; m. Dec. 14, 1892, at Washington, Iowa, Wm. A. Stoutenburg (b. Sep. 10, 1867, Pittsford, N. Y.). They live on a farm.

2 daughters, both born at Princeton, Ill.:

Mary Iva, b. March 2, 1894; m. June 20, 1917, at Burt, Iowa, Roy Budlong of Titonka, Iowa, where they reside and where their children were born: Betty, b. May 29, 1919; Dorothy, b. Feb. 20, 1921; Alice, b. Feb. 12, 1923; and Donald, b. March 15, 1928.

Lillian Ava, b. Oct. 19, 1897; m. July 21, 1925, at Algona, Iowa, Harold Vernon Jones (b. Feb. 1, 1898, at Tabor, Iowa). He spent 13 months over seas in the World War. Both graduated from Iowa State College at Ames, June, 1924. Have adopted a boy, Gordon Harold, b. Oct. 5, 1931.

541 JONATHAN ERWIN LANGWORTHY[6] (Anson[5], James[4], [3], [2]). Born May 17, 1838, in Princeton, Ill.; d. Nov. 9, 1911, in Richmond, Va.; m. Aug. 2, 1866, Esther Parthenia Macomber (b. Feb. 2, 1843, Parkman, Me., d. Aug. 2, 1868, in Lynn, Mass.). His name was changed to John Erwin. He was employed in shoe factories in Lynn, Mass. Served eleven months in Civil War.

5 children:

Charlie Erwin, b. 1869; d. 1871.

Alice Esther, b. 1871.

Florence Ethel, b. Oct. 16, 1875; living in Lynn, unm.

Laura May, b. Oct. 27, 1879; m. June, 1910, Charles Shingleton Beaudry; a son, Charles Langworthy, b. Aug. 21, 1917, is a cadet at West Point Military Academy.

Frank Herbert, b. Dec. 8, 1881; m. Sep. 14, 1910, Bertha May Shaw (b. Dec. 2, 1884, in Franklin, N. H.). Children: Nelson Erwin, b. Feb. 2, 1916 in Lynn, d. Sep. 11, 1926, in Beverly, Mass.; and Alfred Norman, b. Apr. 30, 1918, d. Aug. 14, 1918. He is employed in the U. S. Post office at Lynn.

542 FRANKLIN LANGWORTHY[6] (Stephen[5], James[4], [3], [2]). Born Jan. 16, 1798; d. at St. Charles, Minn.; m. March, 1829, Ann Eliza Hawley (d. after 1866). He was elected supervisor of St. Charles in May, 1858; appointed judge of elections, Apr. 4, 1859. His will is on record in the Winona County, Minn., Court House and bears date July 24, 1866; admitted to probate Dec. 4, 1867. His wife was sole heir. He lived at Windsor, Vt., until 12 years old, when he moved to Hopkinton (now Lawrence), N.Y., and remained two years; then made his home in many different towns in northern New York for varying periods of time. He studied at Potsdam, N. Y., for six months in 1828 and commenced preaching in August, 1828; was ordained at Clinton, St. Lawrence Co., probably as a Universalist minister. Later he moved to Bureau

Co., Ill. and thence to Mt. Carroll, Ill., and from that place he started on the overland route to California, April 1, 1850.

He wrote the best account of the journey that is extant. He kept a diary of the trip which was rewritten under the title Scenery of the Plains, Mountains and Mines: or a Diary Kept upon the Overland Route to California," copyrighted in 1854 and published at Ogdensburg, N. Y., in 1855. The author has an original copy. The volume is of such great value that it was republished by the Princeton University Press, under the editorship of Professor Paul C. Phillips of the University of Montana, as one volume of the Narratives of the Trans-Mississippi Frontier. If it comes to your hand you will find it a delightful account of the journey to California, his return voyage to New York via Panama, and the return to Mt. Carroll by railroad from New York. Professor Phillips says:

Franklin Langworthy's Scenery of the Plains, Mountains and Mines reveals a cultured man's reactions to the gold rush. The author had an understanding of geology, botany, and zoology, and he possessed keen powers of observation. His accounts of natural scenery are realistic, and, for the most part, meticulously accurate. He tried to explain the West in the light of the most advanced scientific knowledge of his time. Langworthy believed in the "nebular hypothesis," and before Darwin published the Origin of Species he had accepted the theory of evolution. He speculated on the origin of the prairies, on the significance of the petrified trees, on the characteristics of primitive American culture, on the effect of the earth's rotation on the course of the Gulf Stream, and other scientific questions equally difficult to settle. In his thinking he was in no wise fettered by current theology, yet there is no trace of irreligion in his ideas and reflections. Langworthy was also interested in economic problems. He believed in the quantity theory of money and opposed the protective tariff as dangerous. He was an early advocate of a railroad to the Pacific.

Most accounts of the gold rush to California are full of personal experience. Langworthy seldom mentioned his own experiences, and when he did so it was to illustrate a point he was trying to make. It is characteristic of him that, forgotten by his associates, he never, during months of travel made mention of them. Though unobtrusive in his personal contacts he seems to have been aggressive in trying to spread knowledge and culture. While traveling he frequently delivered lectures to his fellow travelers. It appears that he conducted a sort of lyceum for prospectors. He lectured on astronomy, geology, natural history, sacred history and Mormonism. The only prejudice he showed was antipathy to the Mormon Church. His book, moreover, was probably the only contemporary narrative that gave a philosophical description of the Overland Trail to California in the days of the gold rush.

Under date of Jan. 8, 1856, Franklin's brother Benjamin wrote from St. Charles, Minn.:

Br. Franklin lives 40 or 50 rods from us. He has a good 2 story dwelling house and store & is doing tolerable good business. .. .. .. He published a book of his California travels & has sold about $1000 worth & has 7 or $800 worth more to sell. .. .. .. Franklin Langworthy 2nd is at Chatfield 15 miles south west of this clerking in a banking establishment. His property is about $5000.

It has commonly been said that Franklin had no children but we can't place Franklin Langworthy, 2nd, unless he is a son of Franklin. He may have died early in life and so passed from the recollection of his relatives.

APPENDIX I

Origin of the Langworthy name

No one knows the origin of our family name. The more usual suggestion is well expressed by Lyman Barker Langworthy (429) who wrote,

Our family is of English descent and probably from the Northern Countries, where Lang (lang syne) was the spelling and pronunciation of long, so that etymologically they were either a tall race, as they generally are as far as my knowledge extends, and withal worthy men, and therefore long and worthy, or they were a race so highly esteemed and of such endurable good repute, as to have gained the sobriquet of Longworthy — spoken provincially Lang-worthy. This supposition is mere hypothesis and entirely a draught on the imagination, but the name being composed of two English words, must have had an origin and a motive.

In Bardsley's English Surnames, page 134, this explanation of meaning of "worth" is given.

Properly speaking any sufficiently warded place — it had come to denote a small farmstead at the time the surname arose. Langworthy as illustration. Index of Instances.
John Langworth and Christopher Langworthie, Z. Z – Calendar of Proceedings in Chancery (Elizabeth).

From this point of view Langworthy would seem to mean "long farm." It is probable that Langworthy, Longworthy, Langworth and Longworth are variations of the same name. None of these is unusual.

APPENDIX II

The Langworthy Coat of Arms

The Langworthy Coat of Arms as given in Burke's General Armory is: "Langworthy (Bath) sa. three greyhounds courant in pale ar. Crest: demi-stag ppr." The description is as follows: on a black shield (sa.) are three greyhounds (silver or white)

BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

SEVENTEENTH LANGWORTHY REUNION
Held August 15, 1907, at the home of Wm. F. Langworthy (65), Hamilton, N. Y.

(ar.) running one above the other (courant in pale). Crest: a half-stag in natural color (ppr). The motto is "Pro Aris et Focis" which means "For Our Homes and Firesides." It is said to have been granted to a Langworthy who lived at Bath, Somersetshire, England by King Henry VIII for some distinguished feat on the hunting field. It seems an appropriate arms for such a service. They say it conferred exemption from the fire tax which was levied on all who kept fires. The motto seems fitting.

Burke also gives the arms of three Longworths and two Langworths. These all have a silver shield and carry three dragons' heads.

Chapin says, "The arms used by Lawrence Langworthy of Newport probably were 'Sable. A chevron between three greyhounds courant Argent' with a crest 'a greyhound courant Argent' although of course talbots may have been intended."

As far as we can learn the Langworthy arms were found and rather widely distributed by Lyman Barker Langworthy of Rochester. It is not clear that the descendants of Andrew Langworthy have any right to them They were the personal property of the one to whom they were granted and if any of his descendants could claim them it would be the oldest son. We do not appear to be his posterity and so can have no strict right. No one, I suppose, will object. The arms have been used by many Langworthys on their stationery. They are of historic interest.

APPENDIX III

The Langworthy Reunion

The Reunion of the Descendants of Andrew and Rachel (Hubbard) Langworthy had its origin in the minds of Hollum and Rosina (Pope) Langworthy (64) and the first two gatherings were held at their farm home near West Edmeston, Otsego County, New York, the earliest on June 11, 1891. At the beginning they associated in their plans Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Sherman Langworthy (91) of Brookfield, N. Y., representing the family of Saunders Langworthy (89), and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Daley of the descendants of Peleg Langworthy (23) who lived near Leonardsville, N. Y. These six acted as a standing committee in planning for the successive meetings as long as strength and life permitted.

The annual reunions have been held at the homes of various members of the family who lived in Central New York. The northern limit has been Utica and the southern Oneonta. In the east-to-west direction they have been held between Edmeston on the east and Hamilton on the west. Many members of the family still live in this vicinity and to insure a good attendance the gatherings could not be held at a greater distance from Brookfield. In the early years of the nineteenth century three sons and three married daughters of Samuel Langworthy (8) came to this town as permanent residents. They were Tacy Langworthy Babcock (16), Peleg Langworthy (23), Nathan Langworthy (56), Saunders Langworthy (89), Hannah Langworthy Brown (117), and Martha Langworthy Brown (127). Samuel Langworthy's brother, Joseph (140) settled at about the same time in the edge of the town of Bridgewater, just north of Brookfield and so near that he was practically in the same community. Most of these had large families and that explains why there have been so many Langworthys living in this region.

In preparation for the reunions announcements of the date and place are mailed to all Langworthy families in America whose names and addresses have come to the secretary. The number has grown to be approximately 1000. Following the gathering an account of the reunion is mailed to the same persons. At first these were printed in the Utica daily papers but later it seemed better to send a small folder. This was succeeded in 1927 by the Langworthy Chronicle and a greater amount of genealogical material added. This has cost a considerable sum. The expense has been met by a collection and by gifts from some who were interested but living so far away that they could not be present.

The meetings have been informal, beginning as early in the forenoon as convenient and ending late in the afternoon. A picnic dinner is served. To this all living within easy access have contributed. Officers are elected and the treasurer and secretary make their reports. It has become a pleasant social occasion and many come long distances to join in the festivities. The automobile and the improved roads have made this possible.

The author does not see how he could have gained the information which made this genealogy possible except for the help of this organization. Interest has been aroused, and new facts accumulated year by year until a respectable body of family history has been brought together. We trust the Reunion will continue indefinitely, reaching larger numbers of Langworthys as the years pass by.

Other Reunions

This Langworthy gathering is only one of several which have been held year by year. The descendants of Robert Langworthy (186) who live near Alfred, N. Y., have supported an annual reunion for thirty-nine years and have made it a most enjoyable event. In Wisconsin, about Augusta, the family of Joseph Langworthy (385) have assembled for many years. It is interesting to know that their companies number more than fifty and all claim descent from Joseph. Near Traverse City, Mich., is another group of Langworthys which meets every year. These are mostly the family of Amon Langworthy, Jr., (307). Perhaps Michigan has more Langworthys than any other state in the Union. The country is full of them. In northwestern Pennsylvania the descendants of Asher Langworthy (462) are supporting a yearly gathering.

It is hoped that all of the family gatherings will be maintained. They serve a useful purpose in strengthening the ties of kinship and binding together those of common purpose.

APPENDIX IV

Researches in England — 1927

On the tenth day of May, Mrs. Langworthy and I sailed from New York on the American Shipper of the American Merchant Line. We landed in Plymouth about six o'clock on Saturday afternoon, May 21. That evening we consulted the city directory for Langworthys and found six men of our name. The next afternoon we visited the Hoe and my attention was called to the splendid Naval War Memorial erected to the memory of British sailors. The inscription reads thus:—In Honour of the Navy and to the Abiding Memory of These Ranks and Ratings of This Port Who Laid Down Their Lives in the Defense of the Empire and Have No Other Grave Than the Sea. Its brass tablets bear the names of 7000 sailors so lost in the World War of 1914-1918.

On these tablets are found the names of A. Langworthy and W. A. Langworthy.

The next day I called on Mr. Richard Langworthy of 50 Nutley Plain, Plymouth, and found him to be a very pleasant gentleman who had been a house decorator in Plymouth for many years, and has recently associated his two sons in his business. I called on him repeatedly and my regard for him increased with each visit. You would easily accept him as a Langworthy both in appearance and ideals. His early home had been at Kingsbridge and his business had called him all over Devon and Cornwall so that his knowledge of those parts and the Langworthys living there was extensive. We are indebted to him for much valuable information. The number of Langworthys about Kingsbridge was large at one time though they have mostly scattered or passed away. There had been doctors of our name at Yealmpton and Modbury. In the parish of North Lew, near Holesworth, in North Devon are two Langworthy farms and a village bearing our name. There is also a Langworthy farm near Widecombe-in-the-Moor. There is a residence in Elburton beyond the iron bridge with Langworthy on the gate. He knew of a Langworthy living in the Isle of Wight and his son had met a Langworthy from Australia in war times. The Langworthys about Kingsbridge had been farmers, butchers and drapers and were generally members of the Church of England. One of Richard Langworthy's cousins, another Richard Langworthy, had lost five sons in the war and another cousin, whose married name was Reeves, had lost seven. Such were some of the facts he gave us.

Acting in part on what Richard Langworthy had told me, and in part on what I had learned in other ways, I spent a day visiting various towns on the south coast of Devon. First I followed Mr. A. H. Langworthy who had moved from Plymouth to Yealmpton after the publication of the last directory, but he could give little information. He thought his brother, John, who lived at Kingsbridge, was well acquainted with the family relations and so I went on to Kingsbridge. I learned that the Doctor Langworthy who had been at Yealmpton had died.

At Kingsbridge we found John Langworthy. His family had lived in that vicinity for 200 or 300 years, and while the number of our name was formerly large they had now scattered. He himself had three sons in Australia, a brother in Toronto, Canada, and another brother had lived in New Zealand until killed in an accident. He said Langworthys lived in most of the towns about there and mentioned Torquay and Dartmouth besides others of which I had heard. The Langworthy doctor who had lived at Salcombe, near by, had died. John Langworthy's father and grandfather had borne the same name. Other common names in the family had been Richard, Robert and William.

I then returned to Modbury where two doctors by the name of Langworthy had lived and their father before them had been a doctor in the same place but all had passed away. The only living Langworthy I could find trace of was a widow but she was absent from home.

Next a char-a-banc took me to Elburton where I had seen Langworthy on the gate and I called expecting to find Langworthys but instead found the family name was White. On asking why they had chosen such a name I was told that Mr. White and his father had formerly lived on the farm in Widecombe which bears that name and when they built this home they gave it the same name.

Ashburton, Devon, is the place specially connected with the early history of our family. Lawrence Langworthy died in Newport, R. I., in 1739 and the inscription on his tombstone gives his age as 47 and says that he was from Ashburton. This stone also bears a coat-of-arms impaled with that of some other family. In connection with printing the records from James Langworthy's family Bible, the editor of the Rhode Island Historical Magazine makes the statement that Andrew, the brother of James, was from Ashburton. We do not know the reason for his saying so. These are the only references to any town in England in any way connected with the early history of the family. It seemed important for me to visit Ashburton to see what could be learned and so I went to the old farm in Widecombe, named "Langworthy" on the same journey. My way to Widecombe led through Ashburton and waiting for poor connections consumed much of the day. Widecombe is a very small village with nothing particularly noteworthy about it except the old church which is large and has such an unusual history that it has become a point much visited by tourists. It is sometimes called "the cathedral of the moor." The village is situated in a valley toward the eastern border of Dartmoor. One naturally goes first to the church. The sexton told me he knew of no Langworthys or any Langworthy farm near there but said that a Langworthy had been buried in the church, and led me to what he supposed to be his grave. The inscription is partly covered by the wooden flooring on which the pews rest, and so could be read only in part. Information from another source shows it is the grave of Margery, the wife of Robert Hannaford of "Langworthy." Other inquiries told me how to reach the farm "Langworthy." It seems to be the custom to name a farm or home in a personal way and not Langworthy farm or Langworthy homestead but simply Langworthy as in this case and that of Mr. White's town home in Elburton. The directions led me over a high hill across the moor to a branch valley of that in which Widecombe lies. There was almost no trail and still after some wandering I found the place and was pleasantly received by the young people now living on the farm. Their name is Nosworthy and the farm is owned by some sisters by the name of Langdon. Mr. Nosworthy did not know how long it had been since Langworthys had occupied the place but would try to find out for me. Margery, the wife of Robert Hannaford, of Langworthy, died XXV June, 1673. Probably this means that Langworthys have not lived there for a long time. The Nosworthys had no picture of the house but would have one taken. Mr. Nosworthy said the roof had recently been changed from thatch to slate and the windows from the old leaded type to casement ones. A reproduction of one picture is shown. The house occupies one side of a square, the barn yard, and faces the principal barn. The interior looked older than the exterior. The room in which I was received was large with a stone floor bedded on the ground. Facing me as I entered was a large fireplace in which some fagots were burning. The usual fuel is peat which is found to a depth of six feet on the lower side of the farm. The place embraces 120 acres and the occupant has rights to pasturage on the moor. Stock raising is the principal type of farming though fields of potatoes and cabbages are common.

On my return to the village I failed to find the vicar but after a night at "The Old Inn" I had an interesting interview with him. The parish records are being printed and by the payment of one pound I became a "patron" which brought a copy as soon as they were completed. I then walked 6½ miles south to Ashburton on the way passing what is known as Langworthy brook, a small stream which eventually finds its way into the Dart. At Ashburton I called on Mr. Edwin Langworthy who told of a William Langworthy living in that vicinity. Then we interviewed the city clerk who had no old records and said the only old vital records were those of St. Andrew's Church. The vicar was absent for the day and so I returned to Plymouth and completed my work by correspondence. A copy of all data from 1603, the date of the earliest entries, to 1640 and 1690 to 1695 shows many Langworthys but no Andrew. Lawrence Langworthy is a common name but no one of the name was born between 1690 and 1695 and the Lawrence Langworthy of Newport, R. I., was born in 1692 if the inscription on monument is correct and he was born in the parish of Ashburton. This leads us to suppose that Andrew and Lawrence were born in some adjoining parish or that they were non-conformists. The number of those who were not members of the established church was large in that part of Devon as shown by printed records. On the other hand we know that Lawrence was an Episcopalian in Newport. Many parishes cluster about Ashburton and Rev. A. H. Thompson, the vicar at Ashburton, suggested that the records of the Congregational church at Ashburton and those of the parishes of Woodland, Bickington and Widecombe be examined. Another said that the records of Ilsington had better be reviewed. I have had reports from all. Ashburton had been an important center and still is to some extent. At one time she chose two members of parliament and was a stannary town. It might naturally be given as the place from which one came even if really he came from a neighboring parish. A representation of the general surroundings of the town will be of interest.

Soon after we first reached Plymouth I located the public library and spent much time there. It has a large collection of books and papers relating to Devon and Cornwall and a good general genealogical library. Those in charge were very courteous and helpful. Many interesting facts came to light.

In Devonshire Wills and Administrations the name Langworthy occurs 18 times between 1606 and 1775 and 17 different residences are mentioned. In the Court of Archdeaconry of Exeter 34 wills and administrations are found between 1594 and 1799 and 13 different places of residence are given. This shows how numerous and widely scattered was the family.

In the Subsidy Roll for the year of the Spanish Armada, 1588, the following assessments were made in parishes adjoining Ashburton:

Beckington
John Langworthy	in lands	XL s
Withecombe
Richard Langworthie	in goods	IIJ li
George Langworthie	in goods	XX s
Sabastian Langworthie	in goods	V li
Andrew Langworthie	in goods	IIJ li

'S' stands for shillings and 'li' for pounds. Amounts given are for second payment on second subsidy, rate Is on goods and Is and 4 d on lands. One should bear in mind that these assessments were made at a time when sheep and cattle were not worth more than one-twentieth of what they were in 1896 when the records were printed in the Transactions of the Devonshire Association for the Advancement of Science, Literature and Arts.

In Aishberton parishe John Langworthy's "Rate for the Releiffe of the Power (poor)—the XXVth days of Aprill, Anno Dom. 1599" was XVJ d.

Alexander Langworthy was church warden in Ashburton in 1563-4. The same year XVI d was paid to "Saunder Langworthy for rydng to Exeter with the presentment, IIII d for ffettying the eight men to take down the Rode loft."

In 1579-80 we find XII d was paid "to Mr. Seyntcler for high rent of the church home and for one tenement called Langworthy land."

In "View of Devonshire in MDCXXX, etc., by Thomas Westcote, Gent," page 403, we find "The River Darts proceedings," etc. "Next it visits Withecombe ——. Here dwells Langworthy at Liswel."

The Visitation of Kent, 1619, gives data for the family of Lancelot Langworth of Kettlebery in the county of Worcestor. (Probably our name). His sons were John, Arthur and Adam. John gained considerable prominence for he graduated from New College, Oxford, in 1577 and became a Doctor of Divinity in 1579. He was later a Prebendary of Christ Church, Canterbury. Many details as to his family are given in The Visitation of Kent, 1663-1668. His will was proved Jan. 22, 1613, and gives names of his immediate family and some more distant relatives. In the Register of Canterbury Cathedral is this entry under Burials, "1613, Jan. 13, Doctor Langworth, one of the worshipful Prebendaries." Mrs. Carrie (Langworthy) Hackett-Smith of Utica, N. Y. (44), has visited the cloister where he and his wife were buried.

Many other less important references to Langworthys were found.

After two and one-half weeks at Plymouth we went to Exeter where I found the directory contained the names of five Langworthys. I attempted to call on David G. Langworthy, who keeps a grocery store, but did not find him at home. His father is a farmer living at Cheriton. Richard Langworthy of Plymouth told me of the Langworthy potato which was grown from seed by a Langworthy living at Exeter. This man was a nurseryman and his potato has been very important since it is an outstanding variety like our Burbank, Early Rose or Irish Cobbler. A large part of the potatoes shipped down from Scotland are of that variety and it is listed among those advertised for planting. I was unable to verify this without spending too much time but do not doubt its accuracy.

The next place we visited which is specially connected with the Langworthys was Salford, Manchester. Through Mr. D. Spong, with whom I had become acquainted through correspondence, we had a wonderfully interesting experience.

The next morning after our arrival he conducted us to the cotton mills of Langworthy Brothers & Co., Ltd., called the Greengate Mills, and located in Salford. A gentleman conducted us through a portion of these where we saw the entire process of making the finished cloth from raw cotton as shipped from our Southern States. Later I met the present manager who told me no Langworthys were now connected with the firm but that George, Edward Ryley and Lewis Langworthy established the business over 100 years ago. He had found some paper relating to the business dated 1825. He had himself been connected with the firm for over sixty years. At that time George Langworthy had recently died but he remembered Edward R.'s coming to the mills occasionally. George had given his time to the manufacture and Edward R. had been the buying and selling agent. In this capacity he had travelled extensively visiting Mexico and Argentine. None of the family is left except an elderly woman whom he supposed was still alive somewhere in London and from whom he had received a letter one or two years ago.

Edward R. had become wealthy and was a public-spirited man, greatly honored by his fellow citizens. He served as mayor of Salford in 1848-1850 and was the principal agent in establishing the Royal Museum and Library in Peel Park. This was the first free public library in the United Kingdom. He was the largest contributor to these institutions and served on the committee in charge for over 24 years. Besides giving thousands of pounds to their support in his life time, he left 10,000 pounds in his will. This was used to construct the Langworthy wing on the ground floor of which is the present Reading and News Room, which accommodates 150 readers. Above is the Langworthy Gallery measuring 110 feet by 35 feet and of splendid proportions. The balance of his bequest was devoted to the purchase of paintings and marble statues. Mr. Langworthy also bequeathed 10,000 pounds to the Manchester Grammar School and endowed the professorship of Physics in Owens College (now University of Manchester).

Mr. Langworthy was born in London in 1797 of a Somerset family. His father was a merchant in that city and the son was, at an early age, placed in the mercantile house of Messrs. Charles Taylour, Son and Co. As their representative he spent twelve years of his life in South America and Mexico. In the latter country he was singularly successful and developed a trade which was of no mean credit. About 1832 he joined his oldest brother, George, who had established a business in Salford and the firm became known, and is still known, as Langworthy Brothers and Co., Ltd., manufacturers and merchants. In 1844 when Salford received its charter of incorporation he was chosen Alderman and was elected mayor for two terms, 1848-1850. Later he was a member of Parliament. He died in April, 1874.

In his honor an important street in Salford is called Langworthy Road. This is from ¾ of a mile to one mile long and passes through some portion of the business section and a part of the park system. Adjoining it in one place is Langworthy Park and on its side is found Langworthy Hotel and Langworthy Picture Drome. Above all monuments to his memory is the Langworthy Museum housed in the part of the Royal Museum and Library erected with his means.

Mr. Spong planned and conducted a splendid trip through the parks and along Langworthy Road. Through his instrumentality we enjoyed a pleasant meeting with the Honorable John Rothwell, the mayor of Salford, at the Town Hall. The Mayor in turn conducted us to the museum and library where we had an opportunity to inspect both and meet those in charge of their maintenance. A sketch of the life of Edward Ryley Langworthy was read by Alderman Phillips and afternoon tea served in the reception room. All of this came to us because our name was Langworthy. It is difficult to adequately express our thanks to Mr. Spong for his kindness in planning our visit in Manchester.

We have found references to Langworthys in many other places: Liverpool, Birmingham, Windsor Castle and Clapham Commons in London. A town named Longworth lies a short distance southeast of Oxford. The name is so common that your historian dispairs of connecting us more definitely with any particular place in England.

APPENDIX V

Widecombe Records

Proof sheets of the Parish Register of Widecombe-in-the-Moor, Volume I, complete, except burials after 1672. It includes baptisms, marriages and burials. It is far from complete as sometimes no entries are preserved for considerable periods of time. Some gaps have been filled from the Bishop's Transcripts. That it is as full as it is seems wonderful to Americans who have been so neglectful of their vital records. All records up to 1652, when Andrew (1) was living in Newport, R. I., are to be found here. These will be of special interest to those undertaking study of the family history. All will be impressed with the varied spelling of the family name which seems to have been modified at somewhat regular intervals to its present form. Your secretary wonders if these may not be due to the ideas of the vicars who successfully presided over the parish. Langworthye became pretty regularly in succession Langworthie, Longworthy, Langworthy, its present form. The character and variety of the personal names with spelling different from that we use is interesting too. Andrew was a fairly common given name. It will be noticed that there were no baptisms of Langworthys at Widecombe after that of Andrew, s. of Christopher, which took place 11 Feb. 1682, as far as the Parish Register shows in Volume I which ends in 1709. Only two marriages of Langworthys, those of women, appear in the last 32 years of the Register, in which records of marriages end in 1707. Either the Langworthys had become nonconformists or had ceased to live in the parish. The tradition, in the branch of the family to which the secretary belongs is that Andrew was driven out of England by religious persecution, leaving considerable property behind.

Lawrence does not appear as a given name at Widecombe but no records of birth are found for a considerable period including the time when Lawrence Langworthy was born if we accept the record on his tombstone in the cemetery at Newport, R. I., and we know of no reason for questioning its authenticity. Lawrence Langworthy died in 1739 at the age of 47. Date of birth would be 1692. Inscription says he was from Ashburton. Widecombe is a small parish six miles north of Ashburton which is the most important town of the region as has been stated in the Chronicle for 1927. You will recall that Lawrence was a common Langworthy name at Ashburton but no record of birth to be found there corresponds to date of Lawrence of Newport.

The author has all the existing records of the parishes of Ashburton, Woodland, Bickington, Ilsington and Widecombe with exception for Widecombe noted before. Our Andrew may have been the Andrewe Langworthie, s. of Richard, who was baptized at Widecombe 30 Nov. 1610. This is merely conjecture. Our ancestor, Andrew, appears to have died between 1690 and 1692 as stated in Chronicle for 1928. If born in 1610 he would have been 80 or somewhat older at date of death. If Andrew's family were not members of the church of England, we can not expect to find a record of birth or baptism. Something may possibly come to light but it is hardly to be expected.

APPENDIX VII

Samuel Hubbard

It is hardly fitting to issue this history of the Langworthy family without some account of Samuel Hubbard, the father of Rachel (Hubbard) Langworthy, and so the "father-in-law" of all the Langworthys. He was born in Mendolsham, Suffolk, England, in 1610. His father was James Hubbard who married Naomi Cocke of Ipswich. His grandfather was Thomas Hubbard, who is mentioned, as is supposed, in the Book of Martyrs, Vol. 3, Page 704, under the name of Thomas Higbee. He came to America in 1633 and settled first at Salem, Mass., but soon moved to Watertown where he joined the church in 1635. Tase Cooper, who became his wife, came to Dorchester in 1634. In 1635 both moved to Windsor, Conn., where they were married by Mr. Ludlow on Jan. 4, 1636. In 1639 they moved to Springfield, Mass. where their fourth child Rachel, was born on March 10, 1642. She afterwards married Andrew Langworthy. May 10, 1647 they moved to Fairfield, Conn., but says Hubbard "God having enlightened both, but mostly my wife, into his holy ordinances of baptizing only of visible believers, and being very zealous for it she was mostly struck at and answered two times publicly, where I was also said to be as bad as she, and sore threatened with imprisonment to Hartford jail, if not to renounce it, or to remove: that scripture came into our minds, if they persecute you in one place flee to another: and so we did, 2 day October 1648 we went for Rhode Island and arrived there 12 day. I and my wife upon our manifestation of our faith were baptized by brother John Clarke 3 day, Nov. 1648."

Rhode Island the home of so many who were sorely pressed by persecution was thenceforth their home. Samuel Hubbard was a very important man especially in the religious history of Rhode Island. Though not of the ability and prominence of Roger Williams or John Clarke, he would easily rank with the greatest leaders after these and lived on terms of intimacy with them and others who were the makers of the colony. A large service to the present generation has been rendered by the journal and letter book which he kept. In this he preserved a record of not only matters of personal and family interest but also of those of denominational and historical value. The letters embraced several hundred partly written by himself and partly those received from others including Roger Williams and other eminent persons at home and abroad. This whole record was used by Dr. Isaac Backus in 1777 in preparing his "History of the Baptists in New England." He says they were in the handwriting of Mr. Hubbard. Dr. Backus copied much of the journal and a few of the letters. The original was in existence in 1830 or 1831. It was last known at DeRuyter, N. Y. Your genealogist secured a copy of the part Dr. Backus transcribed from Rev. Wm. L. Burdick of Ashaway, R. I., who very kindly and generously loaned his volume.

In this journal Samuel Hubbard writes, "Andrew Langworthy was baptized at Newport, Oct. 6, 1652. He married Rachel Hubbard Nov. 3, 1658 and had 10 children, she was baptized July 17, 1661." The date of this entry in the journal is not known. Children may have been born later than this. Dr. Backus says, "The last of his letters that I have seen was to Richard Brooks of Boston, May 7, 1688, when he said, "The mesles is not gone here, my daughter Rachel have them and some of her family." Mr. Hubbard died soon after the date of this last letter. No clue could be found before this record came to light as to the number of Andrew Langworthy's children. The bad condition of the Newport records has up to this time made it impossible to find the names of his children except Samuel, the oldest son. It is easy to conjecture the names of many of them, James, John, Robert and Andrew are among the number.

We are loathe to leave this without quoting from one or two letters of this citizen of the unique commonwealth of the seventeenth century;—an asylum for the persecuted of all classes;—a place where all enjoyed complete religious liberty. This principle has revolutionized a large part of the world and is destined to work a complete political change throughout Christendom.

In a letter to his beloved sister Mary Greenleaf of Boston, March 28, 1686 he said: "Just now I remember what my mother words were near 70 years ago. That thankfulness for mercys was a conning way of begging more mercies. Psalm 103: 12, 17, 18. And I may say with old Jacob, Gen. 32, 10, that I came over with myself, and God have made me 3 bands. This day I have heard God have added one grandchild more to my store, that now have grandchildren 28, great grandchildren 10, son-in-laws 3, great son-in-laws 3 and my 3 daughters now alive, 4 I buried; my all and mine 49. And I may say with the Apostle John, 3 John 4, I have no greater joy than to hear of my children walking in the truth and that with me and my wife all of them and 2 of their husbands the other is a baptized person, and 2 of my granddaughters and both of their husbands with us also."

Mr. Hubbard wrote to his cousin John Smith of London from Boston July 6, 1668, wherein he says——— "I hint how it is with me and mine. Thro' God's great mercy the Lord have given me in this wilderness a good, dilligent, careful, painful and very loving wife; we thro' mercy live comfortably, praised be God, as coheirs together, of one mind in the Lord, travelling thro' this wilderness to our heavenly Sion, knowing we are pilgrims as our fathers were: and good portion being content therewith. A good house as with us judged and 25 acres of ground fenced in, and 4 cows, which give milk, one young heifer and 3 calves and a very good mare; a trade a carpenter, and health to follow it and my wife very dilligent and painful, praised be God. This my joy and crown in humility I speak it, for God's glory, I trust all both sons-in-law and daughter are in visible order in general; but in especial manner my son Clarke and my three daughters, with my wife and about 4 walk in the observation of God's holy sanctified 7 day sabbath, with much comfort and liberty, for so we and all ever had and yet have in this colony. The good Lord give me poor one, and all, hearts to be faithful and diligent in the improvement, for his glory, our souls good and edifying and building up one another in our most holy faith:——"

Perhaps these extracts are enough to give one some appreciation of the spirit and life of Samuel Hubbard. His writings have been largely drawn upon for the facts as to the early history of the Baptists and Seventh Day Baptists of America. John Clarke baptized him into the membership of the old Baptist Church of Newport, R. I., which was the first or second Baptist Church in America. He and six others,—one his wife and one his daughter, Rachel Langworthy—withdrew from the fellowship of that church to found the first Seventh Day Baptist Church in America on Dec. 23, 1671. Of all these events Samuel Hubbard gives the main facts. Many of them are preserved no where else. He does not appear to have been regularly set apart for the ministry though he often preached and was frequently sent long distances as messenger and missionary of his church.

Only three of Hubbard's children lived to marry and have families. The oldest of these was Ruth who married Robert Burdick and is the ancestress of all the Burdicks in America. The youngest was Bethiah. She married Joseph Clarke, the nephew of Dr. John Clarke, from whom a very large part of the Clarkes are descended.

APPENDIX IX

Langworthy Burying Grounds

Plot of cemetery where many of the family of Thomas Langworthy (187) were buried. It is situated on a low ridge sloping toward the highway. This plan was drawn by Content Langworthy Lewis, daughter of John Langworthy (222) on Aug. 20, 1866. It is located on the farm where Thomas Langworthy settled. No stones were set to mark the resting places of different individuals. A copy came to the author from Alfred Amos Langworthy, son of Amos, 3rd, (201).

First Tier.	Second Tier.	Third Tier.	Fourth Tier.
John Sanford and his wife, Mary, widow of Robert Langworthy.	Robert and Mary, children of Robert and Mary (Brownell) Langworthy.	Mary, daughter of Thomas and Content (Sanford) Langworthy.	John, son of Amos and Sarah, aged about 5 years.
	Thomas Langworthy and his wife, Content Sanford.	Sanford, son of Thomas.	Amy, daughter of Amos and Sarah.
	Thomas Langworthy, son of Thomas and Content.	Joshua, son of John.	Thomas, son of Amos and Sarah.
	John Langworthy and his wife, Altana Langworthy.	Anna Wells, daughter of Thomas and Content.	Ellen Langworthy, wife of Capt. Benjamin.
	Abigail Langworthy.	Amos and his wife Sarah.
		Sarah, daughter of Amos.
		Mary, daughter of Amos.

On the farm in Hopkinton, R. I., where Samuel Langworthy (6) established his home are two cemeteries. One is said to be the burial place of some Indians. The other is evidently the place where Samuel Langworthy and many of his descendants were laid to rest. The graves were marked by rather rough slabs of stone and if they ever bore inscriptions the ravages of time have defaced most of them. The author found one which bore the name Mary when he was there in 1902 but the stone had disappeared on his last visit. Some have tried to make out the initials of other names but without great success.

APPENDIX X

"Test Act"

Document contributed to the Narragansett Historical Register by Hon. Edwin R. Allen, Town Clerk of Hopkinton, R. I. Volume IV, Page 139.

Hopkinton, Sept. 19, A. D., 1776.

I the subscriber do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I believe, The War, Resistance and Opposition in which the United American Colonies are Engaged, against the Fleets and Armies of Great Brittain, is: on the part of the said Colonies, Just: and necessary: and that I will not directly or indirectly afford assistance of any sort or kind whatever to the said Fleets and Armies during the continuance of the present war, but that I will heartily assist in the defence of the United Colonies.

Among the many patriots who signed this document were Amos Langworthy[4] (Thomas[3], Robert[2]), (188), Joseph Langworthy[4] (Samuel[3], [2]), (140), and Samuel Langworthy[4] (Samuel[3],[2]), (8). Women who can show descent from these are eligible for membership in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Some have joined as descendants of Samuel. One such is Claire Langworthy Anderson (Mrs. F. L.) (70) whose D. A. R. number is 52845.

Some have used the record of James Langworthy[4] (James[3], [2]) (484) who served as a private under Capt. Samuel Savage in Col. Ebenezer Wood's 3rd Regiment. Among them are Mrs. Aleen Langworthy Massey, No. 19163; Mrs. Caca Smith Senour, No. 79320 and Miss Bertha Elizabeth Bergen, No. 80323.

The descendants of John Langworthy[4] (Thomas[3], Robert[2])

(222) should be eligible. He was a drummer but was at home on furlough when his company fought the battle of Groton.

Edward Langworthy of Georgia was a member of the Continental Congress and a signer of the Articles of Confederation. See Appendix XII.

Several other Langworthys were engaged in the military service. Some left no descendants and we could not find data for others. Among these was Jonathan, b. Nov. 19, 1755, who was in the Navy and was made prisoner when the Briggenteen Angelica out of Boston was taken by the Andromeda. He was confined in Forton Prison, England, 1777 – 1779. See American Prisoners at Forton Prison, England, 1777-1779 by W. R. Cutter.

New England Hist. and Gen. Register, vol. 19, page 210, has this entry: "List of Americans committed to Old Mill Prison, England, during the War, Brig. Betsy taken March 13, Com. July 23, 1781, John Longworthy, Penn." (Probably our name).

William Langworthy, Newport, sailed with Paul Jones in the first American frigate that traversed the ocean; known and respected by Gen. Washington. Providence Phenix, page 542, Feb. 4, 1828. The Providence Journal of the same date adds "he afterwards joined the Northern Army at Newport."

Rhode Island Pensioners, page 306, Pension Roll of 1820: Langworthy, William, private, Newport County, allowed $96; total received $943.73, Mass. Cont. Line, placed on roll Sep. 16, 1818, commenced March 21, 1818, age 70, died Feb. 4, 1828. (May be the same person as above though there is a difference in age).

Cowell's Spirit of '76, index. Langworthy, Joseph, private, Capt. Arnold's Company, Col. Lippitt's regiment; on company pay roll Sep. 1776. We can't be sure who this Joseph was for Joseph[4] (Joseph[3], Robert[2]) (427) and his nephew Joseph[5] (Robert[4], Joseph[3], Robert[2]) both served in the Revolution. The former is said to have deserted. Dr. Charles Ford Langworthy, a descendant, felt he should not be severely criticised for he had a large family which was left nearly destitute by his absence. The younger Joseph served throughout the war and finally lost his life under General Arthur St. Claire's command in war with the Indians in Ohio. He did not marry.

Langworthy, Southcote, son of Southcote and grandson of Lawrence (see Appendix XI) was a private in Capt. Carr's Company, Col. Lippitt's regiment; on company pay roll, Sep., 1776; private, Col. Angell's regiment, 1779; receipt for service in Stephen Olney's company dated Malvern Hills 31 July 1781 for service from 1 Jan 1777 to 1 Aug. 1780; Rhode Island regiment in Southern Army, 1 Aug. 1780, etc. No descendants as far as I could learn.

APPENDIX XI

Lawrence Langworthy

Even though we can not give the connection, if any, between Lawrence Langworthy and Andrew Langworthy, the founder of our family in America, it is fitting to have some account of Lawrence included in this volume. Some genealogists have thought him to be a son of Andrew and others a brother but he was born too late for the former or even the latter. Still there is good reason for believing that they were related.

In some ways we know more about Lawrence than we do about Andrew. The Newport records give more facts and his monument is still in existence in the old Willow Cemetery (now called the City Cemetery) in Newport, R. I. It bears this inscription:

In Memory of
Mr. LAWRENCE LANGWORTHY of Ashburton, in ye county of Devonshire. Died Oct. ye 19
1739. In ye 47 year of his age.

ALSO of MARY his wife, of Dartmouth in ye county of Devonshire, died Jany. ye 16,
1732/3, in ye 37 year of her age.

Andrew is supposed to have died between 1690 and 1692 and we have reliable evidence of his having been baptized in Newport in 1652. Rachel, his wife, was fifty years old at the time Lawrence was born for the date of her birth is 1642.

Lawrence Langworthy's tombstone bears an elaborate coat of arms impaled with that of his wife Mary but it is not the coat of arms which is commonly claimed by the Langworthy family which was granted by King Henry VIII to some Langworthy of Bath, Somersetshire. It has been much injured by the elements since it was outlined about 200 years ago. Mr. Howard M. Chapin, Librarian of the Rhode Island Historical Society, has made a study of this coat of arms and his conclusions are given in Colonial Heraldry, A Roll of Arms Used in the English Colony of Rhode Island 1636-1776. Mr. Chapin thinks the arms a variant of those of Lanhorgy of Cornwall.

The public records show that Lawrence was a pewterer and a study of his work has brought to light one piece of his pewter in the Royal Albert Museum, Exeter, England. He had "leave to strike" in Exeter in 1719 according to Cotterell's Old Pewter, Its Makers and Marks. (He is the only Langworthy to be granted a 'leave.') The dish is about 9¾ inches in diameter and bears Lawrence's touch "which is circular, the inner circle bearing a crown supported by two crossed scepters with 1719 above the crown, while the outer circle includes his name and Exon (Exeter)." Six bell metal pots of his handiwork have been found in America but no pewter. One pot belonging to Mrs. Benjamin Blake of Weston, Mass., is marked "L. Langworthy 1730." 1730 seems to be the date he began operations in America. Another pot belonging to Mr. Lewis N. Wiggin, North Adams, Mass., is marked "L. L. Newport." There is slight hope of finding any of his pewter. In times of need it was commonly melted and cast into bullets.

Lawrence seems to have had other kinds of business for we find in Rhode Island Colonial Records, 1707-1740, page 559, "Voted and resolved that the account of Lawrence Langworthy, Amounting to 183£-18s-6d for powder, supplied to Fort George, be allowed and paid out of the general treasury."

He must have been a man of considerable means as we see from his will fragments of which have been preserved. He left a considerable sum of money to his widow, his daughter Mary and the residue of his estate to his son Southcote. A negro slave was willed to his widow, another to his daughter and mourning rings to the overseers of his will.

He was admitted vestryman of Trinity Church, Newport, Apr. 3, 1738. His wife Mary died Jan. 16, 1732/3. The next year, June 24, 1734, he married Mary Lawton. His only children were Mary who married Daniel Pierce (Pearce), August 15, 1742 and Southcote who married Eleanor Slocum, June 30, 1745. Mary had a large family. Southcote was brazier. As far as known he had only one son, Southcote, who was a Revolutionary soldier.

APPENDIX XII

Edward Langworthy

Readers will be interested in an account of Edward Langworthy of Georgia even though we can not find that he was related to the family of Andrew Langworthy (1). Lyman Barker Langworthy (429) in his "Memoirs" says that his great grandfather had a son Edward "who went south and was a signer of the confederation of the United States from Georgia." No evidence to support his statement has come to light. After consulting all available records and correspondence with some of his descendants the facts about Edward Langworthy seem to be as follows when variations in the authorities are reconciled as fully as possible:

He was born in or near Savannah, Georgia, of obscure parentage in 1738. Left an orphan at an early age he was indebted for his maintenance and education to the institution founded by Rev. George Whitefield which was known as Bethesda Orphan House. He "kept school" for a time in Savannah and in 1771 was placed in charge of a school "for Academical Learning" just established in connection with the orphanage. Charles C. Jones, Jr., wrote in his Biographical Sketches of the Delegates from Georgia to the Continental Congress,

His earliest public appearance as far as we can ascertain was as one of the signers of a card which was published in the Georgia Gazette on the 7th of September, 1774, criticizing certain patriotic resolutions adopted at a convocation of citizens held on the 10th of the preceeding month and protesting against their being accepted as reflecting the sentiments of a majority of the inhabitants of Georgia.

In that card he appeared in full sympathy with the royalists of the province. A year later however he had so completely reversed his position that he was chosen secretary to the council of safety and served the succeeding Revolutionary bodies, the provincial congress and the convention in the same capacity. In June, 1777, he was chosen as a delegate to the Continental Congress and took his seat Nov. 17. He was re-elected and served till 1779. As a member of Congress he supported General Washington but was one of minority that voted against approving the court martial of General Charles Lee. As one of the delegates from Georgia he signed the Articles of Confederation. He opposed the inclusion of the right to the Newfoundland fisheries as an ultimatum in the terms of peace with Great Britain.

At the close of his term of service in Congress he remained in Philadelphia and was said to be the author of various newspaper articles criticizing the acts of a faction in Congress.

In 1785 he moved to Baltimore, Md., where he joined William Goddard in issuing the Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser (now the Baltimore Sun) but gave up this connection after one year. He was the principal and teacher of classics in Baltimore Academy, 1787-1791; moved to Elkton, Md., about 1791 but returned to Baltimore in 1795. He was inspector of customs or naval officer (or both) of Baltimore until his death Nov. 1, 1802.

When he became associated with William Goddard he came into possession of the papers of General Charles Lee who had recently died. Selections of these, with a sketch of his life, he published under the title Memoirs of the Life of the Late Charles Lee (London 1792). This was republished under various titles in several cities.

From 1791-1794 when residing in Elkton he was engaged in the preparation of a history of Georgia. From a published prospectus of this work, printed in the Georgia Gazette, we suppose the history was actually written. Probably it was never printed because suitable encouragement was not offered. Both his manuscript and the data upon which it was based have been lost.

His first wife was a sister of Ambrose Wright. After her death he married again. We had considerable correspondence with Mrs. E. C. Hampson of Ten Hills, Baltimore, Md., and Edward J. Marsden of Yonkers, N. Y., great grandchildren of Edward Langworthy. Mrs. Hampson said he died in Baltimore of yellow fever contracted in connection with his duties in the custom house and was buried in the old Episcopal cemetery, corner of German and Tremont Sts., Baltimore but his grave is unmarked.

His children's birthdates as copied from a family bible by Mrs. Hampson are as follows:

Jennie, b. Dec. 25, 1797. She married John Bacon of Baltimore and had a son James who was the grandfather of Mrs. Hampson. Her mother's name was Mattie (Bacon) Huster.

Isabelle, b. Sep. 7, 1799; d. about 1891. She married —— Marsden and was the mother of James Marsden and grandmother of Edward J.

Edward, b. May 15, 1801. He was a newspaper man and died in Natchez, Mississippi, from taking the wrong medicine when ill. He was a bachelor.

John, b. May 25, 1802.

There were no children by the second wife.
